Policeman Battles To Save Twins As Ambulance Is Late

Four-Months Premature Babies Succumb In San Anselmo Home

Patrolman Edward Silvia of San Anselmo police found himself unwittingly cast in the role of midwife for delivery of premature twins last night.

The two babies, born to Mrs. Dianne Hayes, 24, of 68 Valley Road, San Anselmo, survived for only minutes after birth.

Patrolman Silvia said a call to United Ambulance was placed at the same time he was dispatched from police headquarters to the Hayes home, but the ambulance did not arrive until 20 minutes after he was on the scene.

Meantime, he assisted with the first baby and tried unsuccessfully to restrain the birth of the second in hope of arrival of a doctor, who had been called by the husband, John Hayes.

The husband called police for help at 11:45 p.m., also telephoning for a doctor.

The doctor arrived ahead of the ambulance, but too late to assist in the birth. Both babies were about four months premature, he reported.

In his report of the case, Patrolman Silvia commented: "It should be noted that the attendants who arrived on the scene were completely unfamiliar with such emergencies."

Silvia was not unfamiliar with them. He has twice before assisted in delivery of babies before an ambulance arrived, and without tragic results.

It Gets Hot, And Suddenly It's Spring

Marin's parks and beaches got Spring's first heavy influx of visitors yesterday as the temperature soared to the 80s in some parts of the county.

Heavy traffic and sunburn were the order of the day.

"Some real lobsters left here yesterday," said Supt. Robert G. Carlson of Stinson State Beach. "Some of them got pretty red." Carlson said about 8,000 visited the beach.

ON THE MOUNTAIN

About 4,500 people went to Mount Tamalpais State Park and the number of visitors at Point Reyes National Seashore was reported the highest yet.

Seashore Supt. Fred W. Binnewies said about 700 people stopped at the Seashore headquarters, indicating the highest influx to the area since the headquarters was established. The most people stopping at the headquarters in a single day previously was 550, said Binnewies.

The heaviest traffic so far this year was seen in Sausalito, Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck, reported. "They were really out. Spring had sprung. Cars were still coming in heavily at 6:30 p.m."

Huck said traffic was heavy on both Saturday and Sunday, but yesterday was the heaviest. Cars were bumper to bumper during the afternoon as far southward as Fort Baker.

Fort Cronkhite beach was crowded with picknickers and bathers.

HIGHEST IN HUB

San Anselmo recorded the highest temperature reading in the county with 83 degrees.

Other high temperatures for yesterday were Woodacre, 76, Fairfax, 75, Ross, 74, Belvedere, 73, Mill Valley, 72, San Rafael, 71, Point Reyes National Seashore headquarters, 68.

Breezes from the ocean were expected to keep temperatures lower today. The Weather Bureau's five-day forecast said rain is unlikely through Saturday.

N. CHARLES BRUSATORI
Doctor's orders

Brusatori Will Retire On June 1

Judge N. Charles Brusatori today announced he will retire from the Marin Superior Court bench as of June 1.

Judge Brusatori called his retirement "perhaps the most reluctant thing I've ever been called upon to do," but said "I cannot continue to disregard my doctor's orders or the urgings of my family."

The judge, who is 62, has suffered a series of heart attacks in recent years. He disclosed he suffered a fainting spell a few nights ago.

"If my health improves, I shall make myself available for temporary assignments by the judicial council," Judge Brusatori said.

FEW WEEKS MORE

He said it will take a few weeks to clear up matters he now has pending. He plans to take his vacation during May, making his retirement effective June 1. He will submit his resignation to the secretary of state within a few days, he said.

"I am most grateful to the people of Marin County for having extended me the opportunity to serve them," said the judge.

Brusatori was first elected to the Marin Superior Court bench in November, 1956. Prior to that he had served four years as judge of Marin Municipal Court, and eight years as justice of the peace.

PUBLIC SERVICE

His record of public service extends back still farther, for he served 13 years on the San Rafael Board of Education, beginning in 1931. He resigned that office to accept appointment as justice of the peace on the death of Justice Herbert de la Montanya.

He has always been particularly interested in young people and in hte problems of juveniles.

He was born in Lonate Puzzolo, Italy, but has lived in San Rafael since he was 2½ years old. He began the study of law while still in high school, reading law at night. He received his L.L.B. degree from San Francisco Law School in May, 1923, when he was not yet 21 years old, and was admitted to the bar on his 21st birthday.

He and his wife, Mary, live at 97 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael.

School Funds Ballot Series Starts Today

Five school districts in Marin County will have financial measures on the ballot on April 20. A sixth, San Rafael Elementary School District, will seek passage of tax and bond measures in the municipal election April 12.

San Anselmo School District seeks both bonds and state loan. Novato has a bond issue in connection with leveling bonded indebtedness in the former Novato and San Jose districts and providing funds for schools in the district newly created by their merger. Lagunitas has a bond election. Kentfield seeks a tax increase. Sausalito requires voter approval if it is to continue its present tax rate.

Beginning today, the Independent-Journal presents a series of stories describing the issues. The first appears on page 28 today.

Steel Contract Parley Resumes On Pay Issues

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers Union (USW), close to wrapping up new wage settlements in the can industry, today presented its major contract demands to the basic steel industry.

The Wage Policy Committee of the union released its declaration of intention at the beginning of the negotiations, saying it would demand a "fair share" of steel industry's record profits. But industry retorted that the union was seeking an "unfair share."

The union demands were said to total about 43 cents per hour.

Gems Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police say an estimated $100,000 worth of diamonds and gold was stolen over the weekend from five wholesale jewelers' offices in a Market Street building.

Quick Action Saves Boy, 3, In Swim Pool

Taken From Same Novato Pool In Rescue Of 1962

Quick action by neighbors yesterday saved a 3-year-old Novato boy from drowning in the same apartment house swimming pool from which a 4-year-old was saved from death under almost identical circumstances in December, 1962.

Kent Judy, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Judy of 1314 Leafwood Drive, was found lying face down on the bottom of the deep end of the Colonial Apartments swimming pool at 1305 Leafwood Drive about 2:30 p.m. by Mrs. Barbara Heredia, the apartment manager.

Her screams brought help from Hugo Trau in Apt. 3. Trau dived into the pool and pulled out the apparently lifeless body of the boy.

CALLS AMBULANCE

A/1c Robert Howard, brother-in-law of Trau who lives in the same apartment gave the boy mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Mrs. Heredia called California Ambulance, but the boy revived before the ambulance arrived. He was taken to Novato Hospital and transferred to Hamilton Air Force Base hospital where he was reported in good condition today.

Mrs. Heredia said she saw the boy lying on the bottom of the pool when she walked out of the laundry room with a basket of laundry.

PLAYED AT POOL

The boy had been left in the care of a baby sitter, Mrs. Heredia said. She said that she had noticed the boy playing around the pool several times and asked him to leave each time.

Neither Sergeant Judy, who is stationed with Western Communication Region at Hamilton or Mrs. Judy could be reached today for comment.

Four-year-old Richard Mostranski, son of S/Sgt. and Mrs. William Mostranski of 1320 Leafwood Drive, was found floating, apparently lifeless, in the same pool in December, 1962.

Jerry Bush, 20, found the Mostranski boy. He and Richard Turner pulled the boy from the pool and used mouth-to-mouth breathing to revive him.

Reeb Fund Drive Total $1,842

Collections at booths in Marin shopping areas Saturday for the James J. Reeb Memorial Fund totaled $1,842, Mrs. William J. Jackson of Lucas Valley, committee head, reported today.

The drive will continue throughout this week, Mrs. Jackson said, and contributions can be sent to P.O. Box 4036, Civic Center Post Office, San Rafael.

The fund is a memorium of Rev. James J. Reeb, Unitarian minister from Boston killed by white racists in Selma, Ala. Money collected will be sent to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, civil rights organization headed by Rev. Martin Luther King.

Legislature Defeats Curbs On Contractors

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to insure the right of governments to regulate contractors' employees was defeated by the Assembly today.

The bill by Assemblyman Howard J. Thelin, R-Glendale, received 30 aye votes and 33 noes. It provided that the legislature has not pre-empted — or taken over—the field of regulating and imposing fees on the workers.

Dixie March Continues Without Obstructions

MARCHING ON MONTGOMERY— An estimated 5,000 demonstrators, white and Negro, stride along Highway 80 between Selma, Ala. and the state capital yesterday, in a protest against voter discrimination and racial injustice. In background are Selma and the Alabama River bridge, scene of the infamous violence which halted the first attempted march two weeks ago. (UPI Telephoto)

Leaflets, Jeers By Racists

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Three hundred marchers—showered by segregationist leaflets from the "confederate Air Force" — trudged behind Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. today on the second leg of a 50-mile voter crusade to Alabama's capital.

The march wound along the blacktop of U. S. 80 under heavy guard by federalized Alabama National Guardsmen and riot-trained Army regulars called up by President Johnson to protect the unusual demonstration.

DIXIE AIR FORCE

A light plane flew over. Yellow leaflets fell to the roadway.

The leaflets called on white citizens to join "Operation Ban." This was described as "selective hiring, firing, buying, selling." The leaflets said: "Unemployed agitator ceases to agitate."

They bore the name of White Citizens Action, Inc., of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and announced that "this message was brought to you by the world's smallest air force — Confederate Air Force."

King and his marchers reached the end of the wide four-lane portion 13 miles out of Selma shortly before noon. Another 12 miles were ahead of them to the next campsite.

FORCES CUT

The marchers, remnants of thousands who joined in the start of the pilgrimage Sunday at Selma, were cut to 300 at the two-lane in keeping with a federal judge's order allowing the march.

The marchers had moved four abreast down the roadway after breaking camp in a frost-covered cow pasture. The sky was cloudless and the weather mild after subfreezing cold during the first night in camp.

It was clear and crisp under a bright blue sky when the marchers rolled out of their sleeping bags and ate breakfast. They were the remnants of thousands who started the trek Sunday from Selma.

They dined on oatmeal, toast, jelly and coffee.

Then about 8 a.m. the march resumed. King said they would walk 14 miles today — twice the distance covered in the first day of the pilgrimage to Montgomery aimed at dramatizing his Negro voter drive.

The temperature fell to 31 de-

Nonlethal Gas Is Used Against Viet Cong Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's armed forces are now using nonlethal gases in certain tactical situations against the Viet Cong, a U.S. military spokesman said tonight.

Temporary disablement is the aim, to make the enemy incapable of fighting.

The spokesman here and the Pentagon in Washington issued statements after reliable Saigon sources reported U.S. and Vietnamese forces were experimenting with this kind of warfare.

Various types of gases have been used in action against the Communist guerrillas in the 2nd and 3rd Corps regions, a broad belt across central Viet Nam, the sources said. Some were believed to induce tears, others nausea, vomiting and loosening

N. Viet Radar Station Bombed By U.S. Jets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Eight U.S. Air Force F105 jets smashed a radar early warning site on the North Vietnamese coast today, then sank three Communist junks that tried to put up a fight.

Enemy fire downed one of the jets, but the pilot was plucked safely from the South China Sea by an amphibious plane of the U.S. 7th Fleet. The antiaircraft action was officially described as light to moderate.

The target of the attack was identified by a U.S. spokesman as Vinh Son, a coastal installation about 60 miles north of the 17th Parallel. The spokesman descrjbed the raid as highly successful, and said the radar site was knocked out.

The jets roared in with 750-pound bombs, rockets and 20mm cannon fire. The raid was the third in four days on North Viet Nam, and the ninth in the series that began Feb. 7.

The attack was the second mounted against a North Vietnamese radar site. On March

CRUDE DEVICE — Bombs found in Birmingham yesterday were rigged with crude timing devices such as this cheap alarm clock. The bombs were disarmed. (UPI Telephoto)

MEANT TO GO

Alabama Bomb Probe Pressed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Police, convinced five dynamite bombs found in Negro areas wre meant to explode, pressed an intense investigation today into a near disaster they say was averted by the cool work of two Army demolition experts.

Police Chief Jamie Moore assigned a special 20-man investigative team to push an around-the-clock probe.

The bombs, ticking in harmless-looking green boxes, were spotted near the former home of a Negro leader, a Catholic church, a Negro attorney's twice-previously bombed home, a funeral home and a Negro high school. All were within a four-mile radius of northwest Birmingham. Police evacuated the areas.

This radius includes previous bombing targets — the 16th Street Baptist Church where four Negro girls died in a blast Sept. 15, 1963; the Gaston Motel, and the former home of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The fifth bomb was discovered late Sunday night near the former home of A. D. King. It was found under a truck by two policemen who were patroling the street.

They called in the demolition experts, Spec. 6 Robert M. Presley, of Oneonta, Ala., and M.Sgt. Marvin M. Bryon, who dismantled all the bombs. The experts said this bomb already had reached its time and failed to explode. "It's a wonder it didn't go off," said one.

Chief Fire Marshal Aaron Rosenfeld and Bryon discounted speculation that the bombs were meant only as scare devices. "Those batteries had plenty of juice," Rosenfeld said. "They were hot. There's no question but what they were meant to go."

Rosenfeld said the first three bombs were set to explode at 12 noon and the fourth at about 6 p.m. No time was given for the fifth bomb.

Moore offered no theories behind the attempted bombings, but would not discount the possibility they were meant to coincide with the start Sunday of a Selma-to-Montgomery march by civil rights demonstrators.

The first bomb was noticed by a school teacher, Fred Calhoun, as he arrived for Mass at Our Lady Queen of the Universe Catholic Church on Center Street, part of an area nicknamed "Dynmite Hill" because of past racial bombings. Calboun said he almost ran over the bomb in a parking lot.

Father Edward L. Foster, who is white, led his all-Negro congregation of about 120 persons outside upon being informed of the discovery and continued Mass in a yard separated from the lethal package by the church.

Rosenfeld examined the bomb, packed into a green box. The box contained 50 sticks of dynamite, a plastic clock, a transistor radio battery attached to the clock, and wires leading from the battery to a dynamite cap.

Suspecting the bomb was booby-trapped, Rosenfeld asked that Army demolition experts be sent from Ft. McClellan at Anniston, 60 miles away.

Negro attorney Arthur Shores searched his yard a block away and found another green box. He heard it ticking, and informed a police officer.

Police, fearing similar discoveries elsewhere, ordered checks at three other Negro churches. The churches were evacuated and searched. No bombs were found.

A third bomb was found in an alley near the Smith-Gaston funeral home, a Negro establishment. Police and fire officials blocked off the area.

Dixie Senator's Honorary Degree Draws Protests

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An honorary doctor of laws degree awarded Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., by Oklahoma City University last week drew added fire Sunday on the steps of the state Capitol.

More than 100 students and clergymen, both Negro and white, assembled at the Capitol to demonstrate support for the civil-rights march from Selma, Ala., to Montgomery.

They heard the Rev. Robert McDole of Corpus Christi Roman Catholic Church take the university to task for honoring "in a formal way a man representing the racism eating away at the heart of America."

Public award of the degree was canceled when students rebelled because of Ellender's avowed intention to fight President Johnson's proposed voting-rights bill. School officials gave the degree to the Southern senator in his hotel room.

Hillsborough police chief Russell Fisher said yesterday they probably were amateurs.

Convention Urges Viet Nam Truce, Reapportionment

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Si Casady, former El Cajon newspaper publisher, took over as president of the California Democratic Council today with a stinging attack on Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and a pledge to join the Alabama right-to-vote march.

Casaddy won the top post in one of the nation's largest volunteer political organizations over four opponents. He captured the presidency on the second ballot after failing by 60 votes to gain the necessary majority the first time around.

Casady had the strong and open support of State Controller Alan Cranson, the first president of the CDC.

PLANS TO MARCH

The 56-year-old Casady called rival Unruh-sponsored Democratic organizations "paper tigers" and predicted:

"Jesse Unruh couldn't win a statewide election in California if he ran unopposed."

Casady sought the presidency on a platform advocating ending the Viet Nam war, free speech, trade with Red China and a strong civil rights stand.

PLANS TO MARCH

Shortly after his election, Casady planned to leave for Alabama and join in the five-day, 50-mile civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

One of the 27 resolutions approved urged President Johnson to halt further bombing of North Viet Nam. The resolution also asked for a cease-fire through the United Nations and an international conference for negotiating a diplomatic settlement of the problem.

The 1,800 CDC delegates also passed a stiff reapportionment resolution, backing the U.S. Supreme Court order of "one man, one vote."

This was in direct conflict with the views of Gov. Brown, the State Senate and the State Democratic Central Committee.

Astronauts' Flight Depends On Weather

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two finely honed American astronauts prepared today to pioneer some vital "steering" in space tomorrow.

The big bugaboo for the first two-man Gemini flight is having good weather, in several locations, and the outlook is doubtful.

Weathermen said the general trend of conditions was improving but they would not commit themselves to a forecast.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young are assigned to take complete command of their "Molly Brown" spacecraft and to change its orbit twice — in other words, steer it in space. No one has ever done that before.

This is an essential step in developing the ability to hook up with another craft in space. The technique must be perfected before men can ever land on and return from the moon — toward which Ranger 9 is soaring now for another close-up inspection.

It will be the second space flight for Grissom, 38, an Air Force major who made a suborbital trip in 1961, and the first for Young, 34, a Navy lieutenant commander. Both are experienced test pilots.

Ex-Convicts' Signup Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation requiring statewide registration of former state prison inmates was introduced today by Assemblyman George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach.

He said the bill was similar to legislation proposed by Gov. Brown two years ago, but rejected by an Assembly Committee.

CAL FACULTY HITS 'GET TOUGH' PLAN

Proposed Regents' Policy Delayed After Weekend Arguments On Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A split has developed between some regents of the University of California and faculty mmbers at the university's Berkeley campus over how to discipline students and employees who stage sit-ins or otherwise disrupt campus academic life.

A get-tough policy advanced at the March 13 regents' meeting, calling for dismissal or firing of the guilty, won no support Saturday from a faculty committee meeting in joint session with a group of regents.

Although conceding the tough policy would be constitutional, Prof. Arthur M. Ross argued in favor of a policy that would offer graded degrees of punishment. He is chairman of the faculty's Emergency Executive Committee.

He questioned the urgency for adopting such a firm policy, professing to see no crisis on the Berkeley campus.

Regent Theodore R. Meyer of San Francisco, whose special committee developed the policy, agreed to give it further study.

The regents' recommendation was to have come before the next regular meeting of the regents Thursday and Friday, but because Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a regent, and others will not be on hand, it will not be acted upon.

Regent Donald H. McLaughlin, author of the recommendation, insisted that "it is very important to have clear and unmistakable statements" on student conduct.

"I call attention to the fact no penalties have been imposed since Oct. 1," McLaughlin said.

The Berkeley campus turmoil began in late September after the administration cracked down on students soliciting funds and members for off-campus political and social activity. Ensuing disorders resulted in an overnight sit-in Dec. 2-3 when more than 750 students and non-students were arrested.

After a three-month period of relative calm, demonstrations erupted again when nine persons appeared on campus bearing signs and shouting through a microphone a four-letter sex word.

Caught between an unofficial regents' demand for a crackdown and faculty committees reluctancy to take up the matter, President Clark Kerr and his acting chancellor, Martin Meyerson, announced their intention March 9 of resigning. They reversed themselves four days later at the hurriedly called regents' meeting in Berkeley.

Kerr and Meyerson appeared then to have won a temporary vote of confidence for their more moderate approach to discipline. But the question remained unresolved in the minds of Meyers' committee members.

Just when the regents will take up the committee recommendation was not known.

Clubhouse Work To Be Resumed By Coastal Club

Members of the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., Friday authorized the start of work to complete their clubhouse.

First phase of the work, a $1,000 interior finishing project, should begin within 30 days, according to President William A. Rice. It is expected to be done before the start of this fall's mountain fair.

The group agreed to hold the fair as usual this year, but set no dates.

Members learned from David White, head of the park's volunteer firemen, that they will begin training next month under the Marin County Fire Department.

Reducing Foods Prices Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California Canners & Growers announced today it was cutting prices on some of its low calorie canned foods.

President R. R. Mauser said the new prices will be effective at once and competitive with nationally advertised brands.

Price reductions apply to cling peaches, Elberta peaches, fruit cocktail, apricots, pears and grapefruit sections.

Vacation Lure May Speed Up Congress Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders today held out the prospect of a 10-day recess as bait for pre-Easter action on voting rights, aid to education and health care legislation.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was informing members that their Easter recess probably would be only a long weekend.

The House timetable calls for passage of all three major measures in the remaining four weeks before Easter. It allows for a 10-day holiday starting several days before Easter.

SCHOOLS CASH

The $1.3-billion bill to provide federal aid for elementary and secondary education now is before the House Rules Committee. It is slated for clearance in time for House debate and final action either late this week or early next week.

It would be followed, if leadership plans aren't upset, by consideration of the health care bill which the House Ways and Means Committee may approve this week.

VOTER RIGHTS

That would leave a full week before Easter for House action on the voting rights legislation now in the hearing stage in the House Judiciary Committee.

That the Senate plans to push hard for prompt action on the vote bill was made clear last week when it instructed its Judiciary Committee to ready a measure for floor consideration by April 9. That action, by vote of 67 to 13, blocked any major delay in the Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. It also indicated enough strength to curb any lengthy filibuster after the bill reaches the Senate floor.

President Johnson is pressing Congress for quick action on the voting rights bill.

Parked Car Looted

Jeannette R. Kolhoff of 418 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, complained to San Rafael police Saturday that her purse, two handles and some brown sacking material were stolen from her care while it was parked briefly outside 411 Fourth Street. The purse contained only small change, she said.

SHE'S 102 TODAY

Mrs. Whipple Recalls Days Of Indian Raiders

Mrs. Fred (Pancheta) Whipple had another birthday today. She getting to be an old hand at birthdays for this was her 102nd.

Mrs. Whipple, born in Pleasant Hill, Ore., in the pioneer days when Indians were still a menance to settlers, later moved to Shasta County with her family.

Her husband had a cattle ranch. The couple raised five children.

They retired from the ranch in 1928 and went to live in San Jose. Whipple died in 1949, and Mrs. Whipple began alternately living with her daughters, Mrs. Minnie Crighton of San Jose and Mrs. Homer Hildebrant of San Rafael.

After a fall last year, Mrs. Whipple moved into the Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital, San Rafael. Sight and hearing are not what they used to be, but Mrs. Whipple still enjoys having visitors.

When Mrs. Hildebrant misses one of her regular visits, Mrs. Whipple wants to know why.

Mrs. Whipple, brightening up for the Independent-Journal photographer, declared:

"I guess I look like I'm more than 100 years old."

Mrs. Whipple also repeated her advice for those who want to live a long time.

"Just keep breathing," she said.

About 25 relatives attended a birthday party for Mrs. Whipple Saturday.

In addition to the two daughters, she also has three sons, Fred L. Whipple, Orland Glen County, and Meryl and Clarence Whipple of Glenburn, Shasta County. There are 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Trustees To Meet

Trustees of Larkspur School District will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Larkspur-Corte Madera School to review proposals for the fiscal 1966 budget.

Johnson Puts Lid On Inside Look At Him

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson mixed scenic tours with frank and ascinating "off-the-record" reminiscences yesterday as he gave some rare inside glimpses of how the nation's chief executive operates.

He rocked in a chair at his boyhood home and toured "some pretty country" with a convoy of about 30 reporters and photographers.

Filled with stories — humorous, poignant, politically significant — the President, in jovial mood, held forth for more than three hours with a rapt audience.

REVEALING SESSION

In the view of White House correspondents who went along, it was one of the most revealing sessions with Johnson. But he made them promise not to report his views.

While the show- and- tell tour was in progress, the President kept tuned in to the situation in Selma, Ala., getting half-hour reports on the progress there of the 50-mile march in support of voting rights for Negroes — "keeping my fingers crossed" that there would be no trouble.

Going from church for a look at his newly restored boyhood home nearby, the President couldn't resist leading a tour there.

"Bird will fuss a little about it," he told newsmen, referring to Mrs. Johnson, "but come on in and look at it."

FORMAL OPENING

He said that hour-long excursion had to be off the record, including his own recollections, because Mrs. Johnson plans a formal opening in April and he doesn't want to give away any of her secrets.

After everyone had trooped through the house, the President said goodby to his wife, announcing, "I'm going to see some pretty country."

"You all can come along if you want to," he told the news gathering.

The result: a 20-car motorcade followed the President for a 35-minute ride over a back country road, rutty, rocky and so dry the stirred-up dust obscured the cars ahead.

Finally Johnson decided to go home for a long-delayed lunch.

LESS THAN MILE AWAY

Cosmonauts See Earth Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's two newest cosmonauts said today their Voskhod II space ship came within less than a mile of another man-made earth satellite.

The sighting was disclosed by cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Pavel Belyayev in an interview with the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Belyayev told a news conference at the Baikonur space base, from which the Voskhod II was launched, that they saw the satellite about one kilometer or .62 miles from their path during the flight last week.

He said they "cried with surprise" when they sighted the "man - made satellite of the earth." It was not reported whether the satellite was Russian or American.

Belyayev also said that he brought his space ship to earth with manual controls—the first time the Soviets have used such methods.

Leonov, the world's first "spacewalker," said his venture into space from the orbiting spacecraft was "simple" and shook the Voskhod (Sunrise) II capsule when he stepped out.

"It was not difficult, even simple," Leonov said.

"The ship shook, and even seemed to lurch forward slightly from the push made by my movement."

Tass said the two cosmonauts were interviewed at the Soviet spaceport in Baikonor on the Russian steppes in Kazahkstan.

They are scheduled to arrive in Moscow tomorrow for a mammoth reception.

Belyayev said the satellite was seen about one kilometer (.62 miles) away from the ship.

"The time will come when link-ups in outer space will become an ordinary occurrence," Belyayev said. "We shall even learn to meet one another on space trails and even go from one ship to another.

"Our experiments with man's exit into space is an important strike on the way to the solution of this task."

In explaining his step into space, Leonov said when he left the capsule he made a movement first with one arm and then the other and moved his foot.

Leonov said he then threw out his arms "with a very pleasant sensation" in the weightlessness of space.

"You simply float around the ship," Leonov said. The cosmonaut was tethered to the capsule by a 16-foot cable. Belyayev said the ship reacted to Leonov's every movement in space.

Doctors today examined the two cosmonauts in advance of their triumphant return to Moscow.

They emerged from mysterious seclusion yesterday two days after they landed.

Crash Kills Six In One Family

TRACY (AP)—An East Palo Alto family of six died in an auto smashup five miles north of Tracy as the father, mother and their four children were returning from a weekend fishing trip.

The victims were Nathaniel Noble, 31, of 212 Azalia Dr.; his wife, Lois, 33, and their children, Cheryl, 9, Brenda, 7, Beverly, 4, and Nathaniel Jr., 1.

Sheriff's investigators said the car, traveling west, skidded into a truck standing at the intersection of Clifton Court Road and Tracy Avenue about 7 p.m. Saturday.

JFK Brother Set To Climb Peak

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is headed for the Yukon Territory today, hoping to be the first man to put a foot on top of an icy, wind-swept mountain named after his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy declined to discuss his reasons for joining an expedition to map the rugged 13,900-foot peak, just three miles from the southeast corner of Alaska.

He would say only that he wanted to go "because it was named after the president."

CUTS AND BRUISES

Girl, Boy, Slip Down Peters Dam Spillway

A 10-year-old girl and a 17-year-old boy today nursed cuts and bruises after amazing escapes during the weekend when they fell 225 feet down the spillway of Peters Dam at Kent Lake near Lagunitas.

The accidents, almost identical, came within 24 hours. Both were walking across the top of the dam spillway when they slipped on some moss which looked deceptively dry.

Neither was seriously injured

Victims were 10-year-old Loren Cavit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Cavit of 12 Locust Avenue, Kentfield, and Daniel DeMaestri, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Attilio S. DeMaestri of 132 Suffield Avenue, San Anselmo.

Loren went to a lakeside picnic on Saturday. As she went hiking across the spillway with some friends, she stepped too close to the edge and slithered down the steep concrete spillway, crashing into rocks below.

Mrs. James V. Cavit said yesterday her daughter was not even knocked unconscious. Supervisor of the party, Mrs. Merriam B. Maxwell of 14 Maple Avenue, Kentfield, rushed to rescue the dazed girl and carried her toward Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, where she was met by county firemen who were called at 3:53 p.m.

The repeat performance came with Daniel, a student at the Sir Francis Drake High School, yesterday.

Mrs. Attilio S. DeMaestri said her son went to Kent Lake with some friends in the afternoon to enjoy the scenery. He lost his balance on slippery moss atop the spillway but managed to break his fall slightly as he tumbled down the concrete slope.

Marin County Fire Department got the rescue call at 3:23 p.m. and Capt. William Stepp and Warden Arthur McKay, together with two sheriff's deputies, carried him out on a stretcher after the youth's companions went to his aid.

Taxicab Firm Files Suit On Name's Use

San Rafael Taxicabs Inc., doing business as Yellow Cab Co., has filed a $100,000 damage suit against a second company also using the latter name.

The suit, filed in Marin Superior Court, alleges J. Carl Youngberg as a principal owner and operator of John Carlisle Inc. has been operating the second company since Jan. 2, 1964, with the deliberate intent to deceive customers of San Rafael Taxicabs Inc. into believing they are using the latter service.

Both firms service the San Rafael area and include Greenbrae, Kentfield, Kent Woodlands, Sleepy Hollow, and territory between San Rafael and Novato.

The plaintiff heardquarters at 703-A Third Street, San Rafael, and the defendent firm is at Ross.

The suit also asks a court injunction prohibiting the defendant from continued operation as Yellow Cab Co.

San Rafael Taxicabs Inc. claims it has been operating since 1935.

Furnishings Stolen From Display Home

Someone took $362 in furniture from the model home of Hobart Consolidated at 195 San Andreas Drive, Novato, Erwin C. McKeegan of 159 San Felipe Way, Novato, reported yesterday to police.

A chair, end tables, lamps and commodes were among items taken between 6 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Hubcaps Stolen

Arthur C. Parsons Jr. of 536 Belle Avenue, San Rafael, complained to the police yesterday that the four hubcaps on his car, worth $40, were stolen while the car parked outside his home between 4 p.m. Friday and 7:30 a.m. yesterday.

WHERE IS HORACE WINK?

Parent Hits Subdivision Traffic Plan

A Tamalpais Woods mother is protesting the entrance from Bell Lane to the proposed residential development of Goheen Enterprises in Tennessee Valley, saying it will cause a "hazardous situation" and endanger lives of school children who attend Tamalpais Valley School.

The written protest is to come before the county board of supervisors tomorrow.

Mrs. H. C. Brown suggests that the developer use Richardson's Way as an entrance rather than Bell Lane. She says the proposed entrance is the only entrance and exit to Tamalpais Valley School, that it would have an 18-degree grade and there would be "blocked vision" on Bell Lane because of hills beyond.

The supervisors are to consider a tentative map of Tennessee Highlands Unit No. 1, with 52 homes proposed on 27 acres.

RAID

14, Vietnamese and American planes smashed similar installations on Tiger Island.

South Vietnamese and American planes raided another North Vietnamese military base yesterday. The Vietnamese planes dropped 52 tons of bombs and rockets and the U.S. planes hit antiaircraft installations.

The target was Vu Con, 15 miles inside Communist territory. A South Vietnamese communique described it as a base for a battalion of regular North Vietnamese troops, a temporary base for guerrillas operating in the south and a supply and ammunition depot for Red guerrillas operating in Quang Tri Province, in South Viet Nam.

It was the eighth air strike against Communist North Viet Nam since a series of U.S. and South Vietnamese raids began Feb. 7.

North Viet Nam protested the Sunday attack to the International Control Commission on Indochina, calling it "a new, very serious war act of the United States and its agents against North Viet Nam."

Woman Is Found Bleeding, Knife In Her Hand

A San Anselmo woman was found with a kitchen knife in her hand, lying bleeding on the floor of her bedroom yesterday when her husband went in to investigate strange sounds from the room.

Conchita Lawrence, 51, of 109 Santa Cruz Avenue, was listed in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a scratched left eye and sliced tongue. San Anselmo police said the woman apparently inflisted the injuries on herself.

Paul A. Lawrence phoned police at 1:34 a.m. saying he was awakened from his sleep in another room to discover his wife.

CAPT. HARRY HURT
Gemini tracker

Children Tell Father's Role In Space Test

Perhaps the proudest and most interested Marinites watching television coverage of the Gemini space flight tomorrow will be 8-year-old Jennifer Hurt and her 5-year-old brother, Harry Hurt Jr.—and with good reason.

Jennifer is so proud she wrote the Independent-Journal about it. Here is her letter:

"My daddy is Captain Harry Hurt of a missile tracking ship (USNS Rose Knot) and he will be in the Pacific Ocean to track the coming flight of the Gemini missile. I am 8 years old and my brother Harry Jr. 5 years old and we will both watch the Gemini flight on TV and hope our daddy will pick up the missile with the Astronauts."

Hurt, who lives at 645 Eastwood Way, Mill Valley, captains the Rose Knot for Marine Transport Lines. The vessel was designed especially for missile tracking and operates under contract with the government.

Hurt was captain of a missile ship in the Atlantic during the satellite flights of John Glenn and Virgil Grissom. A native of Estonia, he has served at sea almost constantly since leaving there in 1921. His present ship is based at San Diego but now is somewhere in the Pacific awaiting the Gemini flight.

New Assessment District Forms

The San Rafael City Council passed a series of resolutions in a special meeting at noon today to set in operation the Francisco Boulevard Assessment District.

The special meeting was set at the council's meeting last Monday night.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow to receive the city clerk's certification of candidates for the April 12 municipal election. Mayor John F. McInnis announced today that a report from San Rafael Architects Associated on plans and specifications for the new city hall will also be received tomorrow night. The council hopes to call bids for the city hall at its April 5 meeting if not sooner.

Novato School Board To Hire For Summer

It will consider leasing six portable classrooms at Novato High School and central office space for administrators.

Young Cyclist Hits Car, Slightly Hurt

Dennis H. Jensen, 12, of 24 Venetia Meadow, San Rafael, escaped with scrapes on his back yesterday when his bike collided with a car.

California Highway Patrolmen reported the boy apparently rode his bike from Crestview Drive onto North San Pedro Road without stopping at a stop sign and collided with a car driven by Delbert O. Hall, 64 Nokomis Avenue, San Anselmo. Young Jensen was treated at San Rafael General Hospital after the accident at 4 p.m.

GAS

of the bowels.

As officially explained, the gas is released from dispensers operated by Vietnamese personnel in helicopters to obtain the same disabling effect as gases normally used in riot control.

Some of these experiments have succeeded, it was reported, but others have failed.

One objective of this gas warfare is to immobilize the enemy quickly to permit the rescue of prisoners held by the Viet Cong.

Another use for gas, military sources said, is neutralization of the enemy in tunnel areas.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas was on one such operation Sunday. Gas was to be used if the Viet Cong pinned down the attacking government force.

There proved to be a major shortage of gas masks. One tank unit had 51 masks and 116 men. Those without gas masks were given pieces of lemon and handkerchiefs.

An infantry battalion in the operation had 170 masks for its 400 men.

The Vietnamese troopers obviously were unfamiliar with the gas masks, Faas reported, and the masks were too big. As it turned out, gas was not used. Vietnamese infantry officers said they were hesitant to use it because their men were not familiar with it. All agreed gas would be a valuable aid in areas where the Viet Cong was dug in.

San Quentin School May Close Doors

A proposal to close the San Quentin School at the end of the current semester will be presented to the San Rafael Board of Education tomorrow by Supt. Bert C. Corona.

The matter is not on the agenda for the board's 7:30 p.m. meeting at the school administration building on E Street, but Superintendent Corona said it will be presented.

The two-room school in San Quentin Village was in its own school district until three years ago when it was merged into the San Rafael Elementary School District.

Corona said its abandonment would be recommended because, with two teachers for 33 pupils in first through sixth grades, "the number of pupils per teacher is very small and this makes it very expensive."

He said he would propose the children be transported by bus to Sun Valley School next year. The following year, they would be transporter to a new school planned in the canal area.

Prison Officer Sues Over Judo

Jack M. Weatherholtz, a correctional officer at San Quentin Prison, has filed a $50,000 damage suit against Clark G. Henry, operator of the Northern California School of Judo in Novato, for an alleged injury on Feb. 4.

The suit, filed in Marin Superior Court, states that Weatherholtz was at the schcool, 874 Grant Avenue, that day to determine if he would enroll. He alleges that Henry, without his permission, grasped him in a negligent manner to demonstrate a hold.

In the action, Weatherholtz charges, ligaments of his right knee were torn.

Stolen Sports Car Recovered, Stripped

Alfred G. Hoel, 87, a retired Christian Science practitioner, died Saturday in a local rest home of a heart ailment.

MACY'S SAN RAFAEL, FOURTH AND COURT, 456-3333: OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY 9:30 TO 9; OTHER DAYS 9:30 TO 5:30

THE ALABAMA MARCH—One-legged Jim Latherer of Saginaw, Mich., is determined to finish the march from Selma to the state capitol in Montgomery, to protest voter registration practices and other racial injustices in Selma, Ala. He is one of estimated 5,000 who set out for four-day, 50-mile hike yesterday. At beginning of procession from Brown's Chapel in Selma, Episcopal priest Henry Stines, Atlanta, Ga., (center) distributes communion. White racists who display Confederate flag and taunt marchers are eyed by truck load of military police (right) as National Guard and federal troops guard entire line of march. (UPI Telephoto)

March Continues With No Trouble

grees overnight, but after sunup the weather grew warmer.

King slep in a pink and white heated house trailer placed in the center of the camp. Two large green tents were the sleeping quarters for the marchers. The men slept in one, the women in the other.

National Guardsmen, federalized by presidential order, kept watch around the camp. The soldiers stood around their own fires, circling the tents at about 100 yards.

A security guard composed mainly of members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee stood sentry duty within the camp and at King's trailer.

Dr. King, calling it a Ghandi-like procession, led the march from Selma Sunday as it topped the Edmund Pettus Bridge, went down the other side and trooped eight abreast to the campsite.

After crossing the bridge, some of the younger marchers laid down on the highway as a symbolic reminder that this was the spot where state troopers had wielded billy clubs and thrown tear gas to stampede a similar march two Sundays before.

Although the day's march was met with some jeers, King said he was surprised there were not more.

His explanation: the people of this area "apparently have resigned themselves that the Negro movement is an unstoppable movement and that they cannot stand on the beach and hold the tide back."

The historic march is to take the demonstrators to the capital of "the heart of Dixie," which King said will be turned "into a state with a heart of brotherhood and freedom...

"We shall reach our goals," he said. "Alabama will be a new Alabama. Its children will finally enter the promised land."

At Selma, white segregationists were thwarted in all attempts to disrupt the first day's walking of the proposed 50-mile march to Montgomery.

Many of the residents of this area, who have backed leaders in their opposition to Negro voting and other integration, flung epithets and taunts at the marchers.

The Ku Klux Klan staged a 50-car motorcade through Montgomery to protest the approach of the marchers. It was led by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of the United Klans of America.

Candidates Night Set In San Rafael For All Contests

All candidates for council, mayor and school board in San Rafael are expected to attend a candidates night in the San Rafael School Little Theater at 8 p.m. April 7, five days before the election.

All candidates have agreed to attend, said Mrs. Richard L. Ocheltree of the Central Marin League of Women Voters. The league is sponsoring the program along with the San Pedro and the Glenwood Parent-Teacher Assns.

Candidates for mayor and council will be asked what they feel are the city's most pressing problems and what the city and county can do to solve mutual problems.

School board candidates will be asked what are the most pressing problems facing San Rafael city schools.

High-Rise Center On Planner Agenda

The high-rise Tamalpais Retirement Center, proposed for the Greenbrae area of Larkspur, will be before the Larkspur Planning Commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow for architectural supervision and for a lot split to give the site six acres needed for the development, including parking.

Valley Investment Co. has requested the supervision, which also must be approved by the city council under terms of the use permit granted for the building.

Discount Firm Marin Plans Not Definite

Discussion of plans by White Front Stores to develop a 17-acre parcel of land in Corte Madera is premature, real estate agent Clifford Dutro said today.

The Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce last week discussed the proposed development, and named a committee to make a recommendation for best use of the land across Highway 101 from the Corte Madera shopping center.

Dutro, of Abe Doty Realtors, Oakland, said today he was not officially acting for the discount department store company when he examined the site several weeks ago at the request of one of the landowners, Architect Martin Bramante of Belvedere.

He said he merely planned to make a presentation about the site to Whitie Front officials in Los Angeles. He said the store has now no definite plan to locate in Marin.

Missing Girl, 17 Returns To Home

Carmen Gonzales, 17, who was missing from her home at 433 First Street, San Rafael, since last Monday, returned early today.

San Rafael police said the girl, daughter of Robert Gonzales, had been in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara with her runaway cousin, Elizabeth Duran of Richmond.

It is not yet known whether the other girl has returned home.

Zone Administrator Hearing Starts Slow

First hearings before the Marin County zoning administrator got off to a slow start today as two of the three items, including a 75-bed nursing home in Tennessee Valley, was continued.

Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordhill postponed decision on the nursing home until April 12 to get more information on traffic and a report from the Mill Valley planning commission.

The hospital, to be on four acres owned by the Peace Lutheran Church, would be operated by the church as a nonprofit venture, according to Sebon Cope, architect.

The land is zoned for single-family residences but is surrounded by zoning that permits apartments. There were no protest on the application today.

Cordhill also continued the application of Graham Lumber Co. for a sign at 125 Jacoby Street near San Rafael until April 12 to get more information. No one appeared to represent the applicant.

Cordhill granted a permit to Leland E. Stevenson for temporary use of a house trailer during construction of a home on his land three miles north of Muir Beach.

The zoning administrator post was created to take some of the load off the planning commission by acting on use permits and variances. However, decisions of the administrator may still be appealed to the commission.

Two Break-Ins Tried, One Foiled

Burglary of Herb's Pool Service, 3765 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said entry was last Friday by forcing a side door. The building was ransacked, according to owner Herber Dougan, but nothing was believed taken.

An attempted breaking of a Cahill Construction Co., shack in the Sleepy Hollow area was also reported by deputies. They said a padlock was pried from a window cover and the window broken yesterday but no entry was made.

Young Demos Hit For Viet Policy

A resolution by the Marin Republican Council calls on Democratic leaders to repudiate the Marin Young Democrats for censuring the United States "aggressive actions" in Viet Nam.

"The disgraceful position taken by the Young Democrats indicates total disregard for our traditional principles of loyalty, courage and national unity," says the resolution.

James Crumpacker, publicity chairman for the Marin Republican Council, said his organization commends the firm stand of President Lyndon B. Johnson in opposing the Viet Cong communists.

Burglars Take $2,317 In Loot In Mill Valley

Window-breaking burglars entered two Mill Valley businesses last night, taking loot estimated at $2,317, police said today.

Largest haul was $1,980 from Dill and Sederberg, 290 Camino Alto, where burglars broke a window on the southwest side of the building.

Stolen were a pipe finder and leak detector, three adding machines, a check writer, a number of commercial blank checks, a typewriter, an electric saw and several hand tools. Every room was ransacked, police said, but most items were taken from the office.. The burglary was discovered by an officer on patrol.

Helen Berlew, inventory clerk at Montgomery Ward and Co., Miller and Sunnyside avenues, reported at 8:25 a.m. today that a window to the men's room was broken. She said a tape recorder, a 16-inch portable television set, and an all-transistor portable stereo phonograph were stolen.

Kentfield Trustees To Plan For Summer

Summer school classes, teachers needed and their pay will be reviewed by the Kentfield School District board at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. today at the Wolfe Grade School.

The board will also hear a proposal for a reqeust for National Defense Education Act funds for the district reading program.

Police Go To Tahoe City In Worthless Check Arrest

Corte Madera police inspector Harold N. Hockett and patrolman Charles Brobeck yesterday traveled to Tahoe City to arrest Wilbur S. Williams III, 26, of 87 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, wanted for two counts of passing worthless checks at Littleman Market in the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on the charges, and sheriff's officers reported Sacramento police also had placed a hold on Williams.

Bail was set at $550 by Marin County, but $1,100 by Sacramento.

Police said Williams was charged with passing a worthless $60 check on Feb. 19 for one count and three checks of $25 each on Feb. 20, 22 and 23 in the other count.

Landscaping Project Set For Greenbrae

The State Division of Highways plans to smooth out the area under the Greenbrae interchange and hopes to complete a "small landspacing project" there during the 1966 fiscal year.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the division, so informed Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who had suggested an improvement at the interchange.

Fire Chief Resigns Over Low Salary

Chief Joseph D. Medley of the Marinwood Fire Department has resigned as of April 1 because "the salary was not high enough."

The resignation came to light today after two closed sessions, one Saturday afternoon and the other last night, of the Marinwood Fire Commission.

The commission finally agreed to recommend that the resignation be accepted, chairman Henry Biggers said.

Medley, who gets $580 a month, said he will probably go into some other line of work.

He has been chief for a year and one-half, replacing John Unsworth, and has been with the Marinwood Fire Department since 1962.

He said he regretted leaving the job but he could not find any other way to beat the "financial pinch."

The Marinwood Community Service District board must act on the resignation before it becomes final. Board member Boyd Wells said a meeting might be called tonight.

Belvedere To Resume Radar War On Speed

Belvedere police will begin a crackdown on speeding cars tomorrow.

Police will put into use their radar unit which is operated from a parked police car. They have not used the unit for almost a year because one police car has been broken down, leaving only one in service.

The speed watch was brought about by residents who have complained of speeding cars, particularly on the straight, flat roads entering Belvedere, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli said

The city council at its April 5 meeting is expected to consider purchase of a replacement for the 1962 model police car now out of commission.

Duplex Plans On Novato's List Today

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a tentative map and rezoning for Beverly Knolls Unit 2 when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Beverly Maple Corp. asks rezoning from limited agricultural to duplex residential and approval of the tentative map of 24 lots at Sunset Parkway and San Jose Boulevard.

The commission will continue the hearing on the Novato Auto Mart master plan submitted by Harry Heifetz et al for 25 acres south of Novato Creek west of Highway 101. It also will consider the tentative map of Lynwood Park Unit 7 of five lots submitted by Heifetz; a three-lot subdivision at Center Road and Kirsty Court requested by Charles F. Douglas; a three-lot subdivision on Carnoustie Drive requested by Marin Oaks Development Co., and a use permit for a service station at South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue requested by Frank J. De Borba.

Panel Truck's Driver Injured In Accident

Louis Jordan, 56, of 9 Harte Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a minor bruise to his left hip when his panel truck went up a bank and turned on its side on the Panoramic Highway, a quarter mile west of Shoreline Highway Friday.

Jordan told the California Highway Patrol he came out of a curve in time to see an oncoming car blocking his eastbound lane. He swerved and his car went up the bank and tipped.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Rafael Student In Honor Society

Michael Kohlhoff, son of Mrs. W. A. Kohlhoff of 1103 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, has been elected to membership in Adignos, a scholastic honor society for sophomores and juniors at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Ore.

Kohlhoff, a junior majoring in political science and drama, is student body president at the college.

Sentences Imposed For Drunken Driving

David Gordon, 37, of 2428 Vineyard Road, Novato, was fined $276 Friday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested Nov. 8 by Novato police.

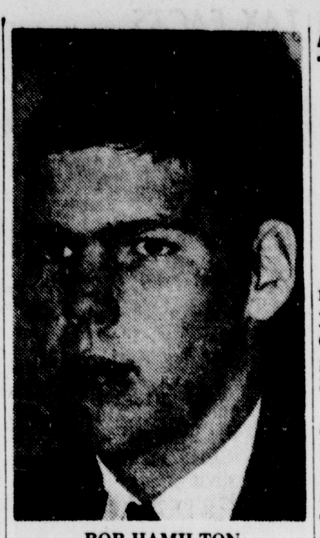

Lewis Ronald Johnson, 38, Santa Rosa, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for drunken driving. He was arrested by California Highway Patrol on Highway 101 last Oct. 3.

The basic plan for San Francisco's 1017-acre Golden Gate Park was made by William Hammon Hall, who in 1871 became the park's first superintendent.

WHERE IS HORACE WINK?

MUSIC REVIEW

Rhythm Stressed In Ballet Program

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Rhythm was the musical element stressed for Marin youngsters Saturday in the second Music for Minors program given in two performances at San Rafael High School.

Presented by several members of Leona Norman's Marin Civic Ballet and younger pupils making up a total of about 30 dancers, the excerpts from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" ballet were eye filling with beautiful costumes and highly entertaining with choreography that was often very funny.

Starring in the latter respect, as well as in acrobatics, were Robert White and Laurie Berryman as Russian dancers. Sally Page and Dolly Maloney were captivating in dazzling costumes as the ribbon candy girls.

Other dancers who were outstanding were Diana Lahmann and Christine Bachich in a Spanish number, Ralph White and Betsy Noga in an amusing Chinese dance, Heidi Looper as a tightrope walker and Jody White as an exotic Arabian dancer.

The set of the Christmas party was effectively done, giving the younger children a chance to shine.

An extraordinary circumstance was the participation of mother, father and son in production — Ricky White, his mother Jody and Father Ralph.

Looking like Alice in Wonderland, Becky Jones, who read a synopsis of the ballet story before each act, showed a charm and poise beyond her years.

Both performances were well attended.

Lawyer To Head U.S. Treasury

Fowler has spent about half his active career in government service and his government posts all were concerned primarily with finance.

TI Reports $2.98 Share -- Best Year

Title Insurance and Trust Co. has reported net earnings after taxes for 1964 at $14,380,346, or $2.98 per share.

This compared with 1963 net earnings of $16,671,240 or $3.72 per share—the best year in the company's history.

Ernest J. Loebbecke, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said the decline in earnings was chiefly due to low premium rate schedules for title insurance policies in three counties in the Los Angeles metropolitan area during 1964. He said new rates, substantially the same as those in effect prior to the cut in late 1963, were adopted Feb. 1 and should be reflected in earnings beginning with the second quarter this year.

Title Insurance and Trust maintains an office in San Rafael.

Steamship Line Reports Earnings

SAN FRANCISCO — American President Lines has reported consolidated net earnings for 1964 of $5,538,563, compared with $4,443,972 for 1963.

Earnings for 1964 were equal to $8 a share on the Class A stock and $1.60 a share on the Class B stock. For 1963 earnings were $6.35 and $1.27 per share, respectively.

Ralph K. Davies, chairman of the board, and George Killion, president, noted that while 1964 results compared with the shipping industry generally, they did not rank favorably with the return in many other fields of American industry.

Mart Closes Higher After Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed irregularly higher today with trading fairly active.

Weakness by airlines failed to keep the industrials from rising as a group. Airlines were dampened by fears that fares may be cut.

Eastern Air Lines fell more than 2 and United Air Lines well over a point.

Gains of a point or better were made by such stocks as Southern Pacific, Du Pont, United Carbide and U.S. Gypsum.

Down a point or so were Pfizer and Eastman Kodak. Xerox fell nearly 4.

Fractional gainers included General Motors, U. S. Steel, Ford Chrysler and American Telephone.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5 million shares compared with 5.04 million Friday.

Here was the picture near the close:

A generally higher tone prevailed among motors, steels, chemicals, rails, aerospace issues, oils and rails.

Some airlines took sharp losses as speculation continued that the government might force a fare cut. Northwest Airlines lost more than 3; National and Eastern about 2 each; United, American, TWA and Continental a point or more.

Gains of a point by Westinghouse and more than a point by Du Pont, U.S. Smelting, Southern Pacific and U.S. Gypsum helped counter the weakness inrails.

American Telephone, up a fractiin, looked like the volume leader.

Also actively traded, Mueller Brass rose more than 4 and Reading Co. more than a point.

Revlon and ABC Paramount were 1-point losers.

Honolulu Firm Votes Dividend Same As 1963's

HONOLULU — Directors of Castle and Cooke, Inc., meeting in Honolulu, have voted a fourth quarterly cash dividend of 45 cents per share. In addition a 10 per cent stock dividend was declared.

The cash dividend which is payable April 15 to shareholders of record March 29 brought the company's total cash payout for the 1964-65 year to $1.50 per share. This is the same amount as was paid for the 1963-64 year.

The stock dividend is also payable to stockholders of record March 29 and will be issued as of April 30 or as soon as practicable thereafter.

Stockholders will have the option of purchasing fractional shares to round out their holdings to full shares or of selling their fractional interests.

TAX FACTS

Dividends Get Break On Return

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, C.P.A.

Under the new rules, the first $100 you receive in dividends after Dec. 31, 1963, is not taxed, nor is the first $200 on a joint return if both husband and wife have dividend income.

Peter J. Wikel

The exclusion applies only to dividends received from domestic corporations.

The exclusion does not apply to dividends received from life insurance companies on policies, mutual insurance companies, China Trade Act corporations, and tax exempt corporations.

Dividends from mutual savings banks, cooperative banks, domestic building and loan associations, domestic savings and loan associations and federal savings and loan associations are not excluded. Dividends from these organizations on deposits and withdrawable accounts are interest and must be so reported.

Dividends from regulated investment companies do not count except to the extent that the company designates that the payments received by you are dividends.

Dividends from foreign corporations and from foreign trading corporations do not count.

Dividends in excess of $100 are subject to a credit of 2 per cent which is deducted directly from the tax.

The credit is actually 2 per cent of the dividend income less the exclusion of the first $100 or $200, as the case may be, or your total income tax, or 2 per cent of your taxable income, whichever is the smaller.

There will be no such credit next year.

There is no comparable provision in the California rules.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Garden Lighting Outlet Opens; Harmony Music Center Sold

A new business specializing in garden lighting—R and S Lighting Associates—has been established by Mrs. Maralyn Smith of Sausalito.

The firm has no showrooms. Says Mrs. Smith: "You can't look at lighting equipment in a store and tell what it's going to do for your own place." Equipment is brought to each home and adapted to the landscape. Address is given as P.O. Box 589, Sausalito. A listing should be in the next phone book.

Mrs. Smith formerly did demonstration work for a public utility company on the East Coast and addresses garden clubs on the general subject of outdoor lighting.

She uses 12-volt current with a transformer from the main house line. This, she claims, is less expensive to operate and install and gives subtler lighting effects.

Kizer Stockman

HOWARD H. KIZER of San Rafael has been promoted to division vice president in the international division of Foremost Dairies, Inc. He is also manager of government sales and services. Kizer joined Foremost in 1949 as production of the company's plant in Okinawa and was made resident manager of the Far East in 1959. He re-returned to San Francisco headquarters in 1963 as area manager, Far East.

NEW DISTRICT MANAGER for Philco Distributors, Inc., San Francisco is Robert W. Stockman of San Rafael. He has been sales manager for the Ford Motor Co. appliance subsidiary since 1963. He was sales manager for Graybar Electric Co. for several years.

MULL'S DRESDEN CRAFT (also known as Mull's Figurines) will move from 1609 Fourth Street, San Rafael to 556 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo on April 1. New quarters are twice as big and badly needed by this firm. There will be more room for large outdoor pieces, says Mrs. Charlotte Mull, and it seems that recently husband Richard has been getting more calls to cast larger indoor figurines.

HARMONY MUSIC CENTER in the Corte Madera Shopping Center has been sold by Irving and Clara Rosenberg to Mrs. Sally D. Butler of Pacifica. It's a first business venture for Mrs. Butler who has her mother helping her, and occasionally husband Robert, who is employed as an electrician, gives additional assistance. They expect to move to Marin County.

The Rosenbergs are staying on to help for a time, and later will take off on a vacation.

TANKERSLEY REALTY will move its San Rafael office April 1 from 2042 to 2020 Fourth Street, thereby gaining four or five times the space it has now. Manager William J. Bush says the sales staff is being expanded accordingly. Main office is in Novato.

New quarters are those of Graham Realty and previously of Rose Paul Realty. Selwyn H. Graham is closing his office to work for Eichler Homes. He will be spending his time at Eichler's new Sequoyah Hills development in southeast Oakland.

THE GREENBLATS of Fairfax will celebrate the second anniversary of their Center Hardware store in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center between next Thursday and April 1. They will hold a week's anniversary sale during that period.

RICHMOND-SAN RAFAEL BUS LINE has not gone out of business, says owner Cecil Allen, simply because one East San Rafael route was discontinued. The line still plies daily between San Rafael and Richmond from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., 10 times a day during the week and nine on Saturday and Sunday. Also from San Rafael to San Quentin every hour throughout the day, and four times a day to the Civic Center, — 10:30 and 11:40 a.m. and 1:40 and 3 p.m.

Silver Miners Uncover Vein

SPOKANE — Miners drilling at the 4600 foot level in the Sunshine Mine of Kellog, Idaho, one of the largest silver mines in the country, have uncovered a 40 foot wide vein in an area which it had been thought was running out, it was announced today.

This area, which is south of the main shaft, had been most productive above the 3700 foot level, but exploratory drillings below that had been disappointing. The reappearance of this vein at the 4600 foot level is particularly rewarding because veins of this type ordinarily are from five to ten feet wide, and the silver content is considerably less than that found here.

Giants Regain Long Ball Punch

PHOENIX (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, leading the Cactus League spring training circuit with a 6-2 record, are back in their home run stride.

The Giants belted two round-trippers yesterday in a 10-5 triumph over Boston's Red Sox, who haven't beaten San Francisco in 10 exhibition games dating back to 1963.

Willie McCovey unloaded a 440-foot homer for the Giants' first home run in spring play, while Jimmy Hart later clubbed an inside-the-park homer.

The Giants led the National League in home runs last season.

Yesterday's victory went to Juan Marichal, San Francisco's 20-game winner the past two years. Marichal shut out the Red Sox with two hits for six innings, striking out four and walking one.

Boston scored four runs in the seventh off rookie southpaw Al Stanek, but only one run was earned. The others followed two errors by Giant shortstop Jose Pagan.

Another San Francisco rookie southpaw, Mike Davison, finished up the last two innings, surrendering one run in the ninth.

Matty Alou doubled home brother Jesus Alou in the second inning for the first Giant run, and then scored himself on Ed Bailey's single.

McCovey's homer in the third with Willie Mays and Jim Hart aboard ran the count to 5-0 and a four-run sixth inning rally started by Hart advanced the Giants to a 9-0 bulge.

Jim Gosger, rookie Boston outfielder, twisted his left leg and fell while chasing down Hart's 430 - foot inside-the-park homer to deepest centerfield.

The Giants were scheduled to play Cleveland at Tucson today.

BILLY CASPER DAY AT PEACOCK TOMORROW

Tomorrow is "Billy Casper Day" at Peacock Gap Golf Club in honor of professional golf's leading money winner of 1965 who has become associated with the San Rafael club as "touring pro."

Casper, who has won approximately $35,000 this year in tournaments, will be on hand for an 11 a.m. press conference, play an exhibition match ($2 gallery admission) with well-known amateur partners starting at 1 p.m. and conduct a free golf clinic for junior golfers at 5 p.m.

Rare '300 Game' Bowled In Marin; Greenbrae Man Does The Trick

Bowling's perfect 300 game is a rarity in Marin so it was a wild scene at Greenbrae Lanes Friday night when a 57-year-old elevator company employee pushed the magic button and ascended to the pent-house of his favorite sport.

The county's new Mr. Perfecto is Arne Dreyer of 30 Corte Comoda, Greenbrae who knocked over 12 consecutive strikes in the final game of his three-game series in the Renovators League.

When Dreyer's 12th strike exploded into the pits, he was the only one of hundreds of witnesses in the house who didn't see it. Dying a thousand deaths of anxiety, the Greenbrae man turned his back and walked away from the scene. But the rest of the place erupted into a wild cheer, the loudest coming from Dreyer's 14-year-old son, Steve, who was among the witnesses.

The 300 game gave Rreyer, a 164 average bowler, a nifty three-game total of 670 as his previous efforts for his Dick Lash Realty team were 182 and 188. With five strikes in each of those lines and his big 12 in the 300, he enjoyed a 22-strike evening.

ALONG AROUND Dreyer's ninth straight strike word spread throughout the busy house like a scandal at a laundromat and pretty soon a crowd began to gather. By the time Dreyer got ready to roll his 12th and most important ball, action at all other 23 lanes stopped and you could not hear a pin drop as he took a deep breath and let fly.

The 12th strike was a bit high and slightly on the Brooklyn side but the ball had enough on it to knock 'em all down. His ball on the eighth frame also was a "Brooklyn" (left side of the head pin), but the 10 others were all perfect in the pocket jobs.

DREYER, WHO has been bowling for about 10 years, is an employee of the Turnbull Elevator Co.

He bowled the perfecto on Greenbrae lanes number 5 and 6 and if he's a bit partial to those "alleys" it is understandable. Only last Wednesday — two days before the 300—he rolled a 631 series (192, 209, 231) on those very same lanes.

Dreyer also had an official witness to his 300—namely, Dick Treadway, county secretary for the American Bowling Congress who immediately set out on the task of testing all equipment used to see that it conforms to ABC standards. That includes size and weight of the ball and pins and length, width and levelness of the lanes. All specifications were met, to the great relief of Greenbrae officials.

AS FAR as can be determined, Dreyer is only the fourth person to bowl a perfect game in ABC-sanctioned play in Marin County. Pete Beeman, then a San Anselmo grocer, did it first at the old Marin Bowl back in the early 1940s. Phil Wallace, a desk man at Greenbrae Lanes, accomplished the trick in the summer of 1963 and Ed Clinton did it at Nave Lanes last year.

"That gives Greenbrae two out of the four, pretty good, eh?" crowed Bob Crowhurst of the Greenbrae house.

THERE HAVE been other "300s" by Marinites, including the veteran Paul Gottlieb, but I'm told his was in "open" play and not sanctioned. Also, Bill Young, another Greenbrae bowler, hit the magic number in 1963, but out of the county—at the state tournament in Stockton.

BILLY CASPER, the new touring pro for Peacock Gap, played the San Rafael course for the first time yesterday, warming up for his exhibition and clinic tomorrow. His score was not announced.

Golf's leading money winner for 1965 played in the company of San Rafael city councilman Louis H. "Bud" Baar, former New York Yankee pitcher Art Schallock and Casper's business agent Wally Dill.

In tomorrow's exhibition starting at 1 p.m. Casper will play with host pro Bob Finn along with amateurs Nels Cullenward; Art Rosenbaugh, sports editor of the Chronicle; Merton Jacobs, president of Peacock Gap; John McMasters, manager of the Almaden Country Club and sports announceds Frank Dill (NBC) and Bob Fouts (CBS).

REDWOOD HIGH coach Al Endriss has all the info on a boys summer camp directed by ex-Yankee third sacker Andy Carey and UCLA baseball coach Art Reichle. The camp is in Saratoga, Wyo. and runs from June 28-June 31. Contact Endriss for more detail if you're interested.

ROYCE FINANCE PLAN of San Rafael has come out with some handy wallet-sized, easy-to-read Giants schedules.

THREE CHEERS, hip-hip hooray and a big six to Jim Murray for winning the 1965 Headliner Award for "consistently outstanding sports columning." Follow his syndicated column in the I-J (twice weekly) to understand why he's the champ.

MR. PERFECTO—Arne Dreyer of Greenbrae shows ball he used in bowling perfect 300 game at Greenbrae Lanes Friday night—becoming only the fourth person to hit the magic number in ABC sanctioned play in Marin County. See "Along Marin's Sports Trail" for details.

PREP BASKETBALL

Marinites Win Five, Lose Pair

The red hot Terra Linda and Marin Catholic high school baseball teams swept double-headers Saturday while the Redwood Giants won a single game and the Drake Pirates lost pair of one-run decisions in still another twin-bill on the prep baseball schedule.

Unbeaten Terra Linda chalked up its third and fourth wins, 5-3 and 5-0 over St. Ignatius of San Francisco at San Rafael's Albert Field; Marin Catholic, two-timed Buchser High of Santa Clara, 5-1 and 4-3; Redwood blanked McClatchy High 8-0 at Sacramento on the two-hit pitching of Scott Murphy, and Drake's heart-breakers were to Lincoln High in San Francisco, 3-2 and 5-4.

TERRA LINDA

Highlighting Terra Linda's sweep was the hot hitting and defensive play of right fielder Fred Daniele and the shutout pitching in the nightcap by junior righthander Terry Johnson.

Daniele had five hits, including a double, in six at-bats on the day, driving in the go-ahead run in the opener.

Johnson, making his first start on the mound in high school, blanked St. Ignatius on six hits in the second game. Although he didn't strike out a batter, he walked only one and was described as "a pleasant surprise" by Coach Don Lucas. Dale White was the winning pitcher in the opener, although he tired and needed relief help of Mike Ainslie in the seventh inning.

Other leading Terra Linda batters were Bill Hall, Dan Herrera and Ken Pike, each with a double and single, and John Clifford with a pair of singles.

MARIN CATHOLIC

After Ben Burch pitched a three-hitter in the opener, striking out nine and walking only one, and Vin Sherry had a double and three runs-batted in, the Marin Catholic Wildcats had to come from behind in the nightcap.

Trailing 1-3 going into the bottom of the seventh, they pushed across three runs as Bob Lombardi singled, Sherry delivered a pinch single, Brad McDonald was hit by a pitch to load the bases, Bob Nelson tied it up with a two-run pinch single and Brian King singled across the winning run. King also was the winning pitcher as he hurled the seventh frame in relief. Marin Catholic is now 4-0 with one tie on the season.

REDWOOD

Redwood, beaten only once this season, posted its fourth victory and third shutout at Sacramento as senior righthander Murphy went the distance, giving up only two singles while fanning five and walking two.

For the Giants Jack Baglietto drove across three runs with a bases-loaded walk and two-run single, Russ Smith contributed a two-run single, Pat Puccinelli tripled across a run and Steve Dorinson got a run batted in on a fielder's choice.

DRAKE

Although they dropped the pair, the Drake Pirates showed progress, according to Coach Bob Fitzhenry, who cited center fielder Russ Damos, sophomore third baseman Tom McNaboe and pitcher Gary Kerch for outstanding performances. Damos and McNaboe each had a pair of hits on the day while Kerch had only one bad inning on the mound in the opener. In the third frame Lincoln bunched four of its six hits and all three of its runs to ruin an otherwise fine job by the pitcher who hails from Nicasio.

UCLA 'Loaded' For Next Season

By HOWARD APPLEGATE

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—UCLA has its sights set on an unprecedented third straight NCAA basketball title—and there probably were few around today who would discount its chances.

Not as long as Coach Johnny Wooden has "reserve" Kenny Washington around, anyway.

Wooden's pressure-proof Bruins handed Michigan a 91-80 beating in the finals of this year's tourney Saturday night to become the fifth team ever to win two NCAA crowns back-to-back since the tournament began in 1939.

Washington, a junior, provided the spark—just as he did against Duke in the final a year ago.

The big man in the victory, of course, was senior Gail Goodrich, the 6-1 bundle of energy who ran the Wolverines dizzy and scored 42 points.

Although Goodrich said he "knew we were going to win" after the game was three minutes old, Michigan had the edge at the start.

The giant trio of Cazzie Russell, Bill Buntin and Oliver Darden dominated the boards and the Big Ten team had a 20-13 lead midway in the first half.

That's when Washington came off the bench, hit five field goals and propelled UCLA to a 47-34 halftime lead that stood up. A year ago against Duke he scored 26 in the title game. He had 17 Saturday night.

Washington's performance was sorely needed—because UCLA's number two star, senior Keith Erickson, was hobbled by a pulled leg muscle and was used sparingly.

Wooden said he thought "players of Michigan's size would get tired and our press would get to them." Goodrich said he didn't worry about Michigan's early lead because he felt they "couldn't continue hitting that well."

Both teams were hot—UCLA hit .569 and Michigan .516 from the field. Russell led Michigan with 28 points.

UCLA had 34 rebounds to 33 for Michigan.

Although Wooden loses Goodrich and Erickson—he has five

Prep Vaulter Clears 16-6

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (AP) —Paul Wilson, 17, the nation's leading prep pole vaulter, continues to push the bar higher and clear it.

Wilson bettered his old record of 16 feet Saturday with a 16 foot, 6¾ inch leap.

The senior from Warren High School in Downey, Calif., was competing in the Southern Counties Invitation track and field meet. Four tries at 16-9½ mark were unsuccessful.

1,000 Greet Bruins Home From NCAA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A crowd of 1,000 cheering UCLA fans yesterday welcomed home the triumphant Bruin basketball team, victors Saturday over Michigan for the NCAA championships.

The fans, mostly students, waved banners proclaiming "Welcome Champs" and "No. 1".

The welcome was equally spirited but less tumultuous than a spontaneous parade which erupted from the vicinity of the UCLA campus Saturday night after the tournament victory in Portland. Hundreds of students paraded a half mile to Wilshire Boulevard, cheering and singing, affectively blocking traffic on the busy thoroughfare for a while.

BERT WEAVER (WHO?)

Pro Golf Tour Has New Champ

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — This is the year of the stranger on the professional golf tour.

The newest unheralded golfer to collect the top paycheck is Bert Weaver, 33-year-old native of Beaumont, Tex., who plays from Broadwater Beach, Miss.

He won the $8,500 first prize in the Greater Jacksonville Open with a score of 285 for the 72 holes yesterday.

This is biggest prize as well as first victory on the tour he has followed at least part time for several years.

"I was thinking about this all night," Weaver said after his score survived challenges by Bruce Devlin, Dave Marr and Dan Sikes. "For some reason I thought I was going to win this one. I never felt like that before, even though I have been in contention."

Usually a good slugger off the tee, although not particularly big at 5-foot-11 and 185 pounds, weaver had some trouble with his drives. But his other clubs performed better than usual.

"People tell me when it is windy and rainy that I ought to do well," Weaver said. "Personally, I never thought I could play a good game in the wind until I played this slop."

He explained slop as the saturated condition of the 6,906-yard Selva Marina course after three days of heavy rains followed on the final day by 40 degree temperatures and bitter north winds.

Weaver's name will go down alongside that of George Archer and Rod Funseth as winners of their first major tournament in 1965.

The new champion's final round matched par 72 and was as good as any could post except veteran Sam Snead and young Gordon Jones with 71 each.

Devlin, an Australian who plays out of Hilton Head Island, S. C.; Bob Charles of Christchurch, New Zealand; Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., and the biggest name among the front runners, Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, had their chances but couldn't beat Weaver.

They each collected $3,575 for a second place tie at 286.

"Arnie's Army" was faithful through all weather but couldn't boost Arnold Palmer to better than 292 — four over par — and a $515 check.

Snead and the sentimental favorite, Dan Sikes Jr. of Jacksonville shot 287 each and collected $2,350. Sikes, leader after three rounds, slipped to a 76 on the final day.

Builders' Win Streak Broken By San Mateo

Billings-Hutchison Builders of Marin had their 11-game winning streak came to a halt yesterday when the San Mateo Blues nipped the Marin semi-pro baseball champions 7-6 in 12 innings.

A bases loaded single off B-H relief pitcher Dave Hughes with two out in the 12th scored two runs and handed the Builders their first loss since September of 1964.

San Mateo jumped off to a 5-0 lead but the Builders, behind the clutch hitting of Dick Spackman, John Brookman, Huges, Tim Reardon, Vince Pallavicini and Don Lauters tied it up at 5-all after nine innings. In the 12th the Marin champs forged ahead when Don Lauters tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jess Munyon, but the Blues came back in the bottom of the 12th with the two-run winning rally.

Bantams Headline S.F. Card

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jesus Pimental, a warrior from Sayula-Jalisco, Mexico, will be world bantamweight champion within a year, or so his manager says.

Pimental, winner of 43 of 44 fights, is featured in the main event tonight in the first boxing show promoted by Civic Boxing Enterprises at San Francisco's New Civic Auditorium.

He will fight Manny Linson in a 10-round event that match-Bennie Ford says will draw a record crowd of Bay Area Mexican-Americans.

But Pimental, says manager Harry Kabakoff, is really pointing for Eder Jofre's bantamweight crown.

"When we get Jofre into the ring," Kabakoff said, "you'll see a new ring king. He can't miss demolishing Jofre like he's done to so many others.'

Manuel Ochoa will fight Ricardo Moreno in a 10-round featherweight match. Moreno has won 13 straight fights.

Also on the card is a 10-round bout between heavyweights Elmer Rush and Roy Rogers and a 4 - rounder between lightweights Jesse Montion and Chuck Simonini.

First bout starts at 8:30. Admission is $6, $4, $3 and $2.

of his "big seven" back for next year — Freddie Goss, Edgar Lacey, Mike Lynn, Doug McIntosh—and Washington.

And Wooden had lost three starters from his 1964 title team — Walt Hazzard, Fred Hirsch and Jack Slaughter.

UCLA, 58-2 for two seasons, set a record of 400 points in four NCAA tournament games, 41 higher than its own mark last year.

A record Oregon crowd of 13,204 also saw a fabulous final performance by Princeton's Bill Bradley.

Bradley broke Oscar Robertson's one-game NCAA tourney record of 56 by scoring 58 points in the Tigers' 118-82 third place win over Wichita.

Bradley, who got 12 points in the last four minutes, said he thought he was shooting for a team instead of an individual mark when his coach and teammates urged him to continue firing. Just a little earlier he had waved off a teammates' feed pass with a grin.

Bradley also broke the five-game NCAA mark of 160 with a total of 177. The former was held by Jerry West of West Virginia and Hal Lear of Temple.

Warriors Are Out Of Their Misery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— The worst ordeal in the history of the National Basketball Association has ended with at least a brief taste of glory for the San Francisco Warriors.

The Warriors closed their season at Los Angeles Saturday night with a 112-98 victory, bringing their final mark to 17-63. They snapped the old NBA loss record by one game.

Guy Rodgers, Al Attles and Paul Neumann broke open a close game in the last six minutes with aggressive, clutch shooting of the type that landed San Francisco in the top spot of the NBA Western Division just one season ago.

This year San Francisco was succeeded as Western Division champion by its down-state rival and victim of Saturday night, Los Angeles. The Warriors won two and lost six with the Lakers during the season.

The Warriors played their closing quarter and a half without Coach Alex Hannum who was tossed out of the game after a heated dispute with referee Earl Strom.

Eight Warriors hit double figures while Elgin Baylor's 19 points for the Lakers gave him a season total of 2,009, making his team the first to have two players top 2,000 points—Baylor and Jerry West.

Two Teams Tie In Marin Golf

The tandems of Aaron Bloom-Jack Gibson and Charles Carroll-Ernie Blum each netted a 59 Saturday to tie for first place in the Marin Country Club's best ball twosome golf tournament. Charles Sargent-Ron Gemmell followed at 61.

At the Meadow Club Saturday in a point tourney James Morena's 41 points won first place in Class A followed by Al Garcia and Ed Burmester with 40 each.

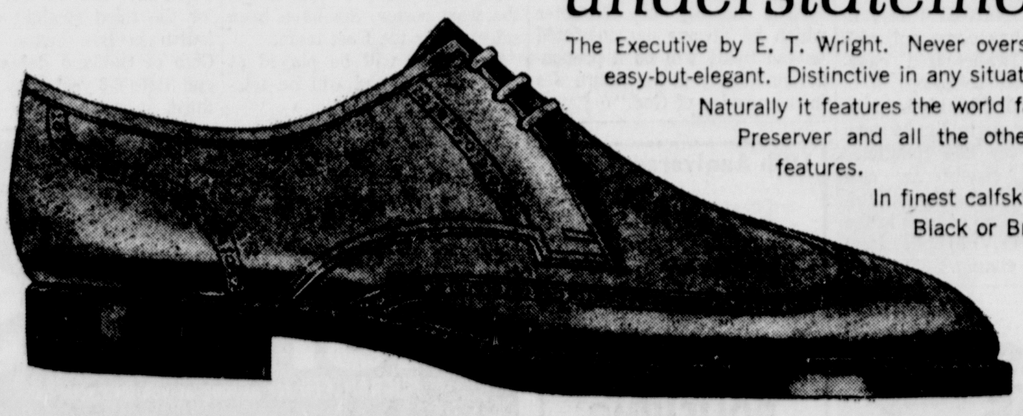

Class B honors went to Irvin Lyons with 40 while Joe Castamagna, Gus Colvin and Bill Gurge each tallied 39 for runners-up honors.

Chance Injured; Cards, Yanks Regain Winning Form

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Chance has been stalled temporarily, but the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees hope they are off at high speed once again.

Chance, the Los Angeles Angel pitcher who won last year's Cy Young award, will be out of action for two to four days following a mishap in yesterday's exhibition baseball game with the Chicago Cubs.

Across the continent, the world champion Cardinals snapped a six-game losing streak by stopping the Chicago White Sox 2-0 while the Yankees nipped Detroit 2-1, halting a four-game losing string.

Pitching first in the Angels' 3-2 victory, Chance was struck in the right arm by a line drive off the bat of Cub catcher Vic Roznovsky.

Until then, the 20-game winner had allowed only two scratch singles while striking out two and walking none in 2 1-3 innings.

The injury was diagnosed as a bone bruise. X rays taken at a hospital revealed no further damage.

Noting that the ball hit the right-hander on the outer part of the forearm, inches below the elbow, Dr. C. P. Jones said:

"It could have been serious if the ball had hit him in one of his joints."

Commented Chance:

"It's going to be sore. No doubt about that. But I don't think it will hurt my training a bit. I'm in too good shape."

While upset over the injury to their ace hurler, the Angels were heartened by the showing of bonus baby Rick Reichardt, who signed for a reported $175,000 last year.

Batting .176 going into the game, the 22-year-old outfielder drove in two of the Angels' runs with a two-run homer in the fifth inning off Lew Burdette and scored the other run on Winston Llenas' single after doubling against Burdette in the seventh.

The Cardinals, who won their first two spring games before dropping six straight, defeated the White Sox behind the pitching of veterans Curt Simmons and Bob Purkey. Simmons scattered four hits in the first five incings, and Purkey finished up with four hitless innings.

Ken Boyer singled across a run in the sixth, an inning before Jerry Buchek homered off Hoyt Wilhelm.

Al Downing limited the Tigers to four hits in six innings in the Yankees' triumph, their first since they won five in a row at the start of their schedule. Downing also singled in New York's first run and scored the second on Roger Maris' single.

Kansas City also broke a four-game losing streak, edging Milwaukee 5-4. But the Athletics lost shortstop Wayne Causey, their leading hitter in 1964, for about 10 days. He jammed his left shoulder in the seventh inning. Causey will be sidelined for about 10 days.

Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 on a wind-blown fly ball and Clay Dalrymple's single in the ninth inning while Rich Rollins' grand slam homer led Minnesota past Washington 9-5 and the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped Baltimore 5-4 with the aid of loose defensive play by the Orioles.

Leon Wagner hit a grand slammer in Cleveland's 13-2 triumph over another Chicago Cub squad. Cincinnati squads tied the New York Mets 2-2 in 12 innings and lost to Puebla in Mexico 5-0, and Houston defeated tis Oklahoma City farm team 4-2.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Hart, Lanier Face Soph Jinx; Orlando, Juan Take It Easy

CONNOLLY

PHOENIX—In spring camp things turn suddenly. One day the manager is weeping and moaning over an injury; the next he forgets the hurt and moves into another category of worry. Today, for instance, the main topic of aggravated fear concerns Jim Ray Hart, young third sacker and runner-up last year for the rookie of the year award.

Hart hasn't been hitting like he was expected and while it is a month before the season starts, Manager Franks is giving him the fishy eye, without saying a word. One of Hart's principal worries is that it is his sophomore year and he is not especially free from being a JINX BELIEVER. And that's bad.

Hal Lanier, the other sophomore Giant, is just the opposite to Hart. He never worries and never even discusses what is commonly known as the second year jinx.

"I'm not even thinking of slowing up," explains Hal. "All I'm worried about is playing. I think if I play everyday I'm going to get my share of hits."

It is really interesting to compare the moods of the various players. Orlando Cepeda, for one, goes about limping and never saying a word about not playing.

"THEY CAN'T take my bat away from me," says the Baby Bull. And as long as I can bat, I can hit. But I'm not taking any more chances of hurting my knee in exhibition games. I was too hasty when I got here and that is why I am not fit and ready right now."

Juan Marichal, the Dominican Dandy, and ace of the Giants pitching staff is, like Cepeda, free from worry.

"My leg is fine. I only bruised it," he says. "But I'm ready right now for the season to begin and when it does I'm taking my best shots. This year is going to be my best and for that reason I want to get off to a flying start."

WHATEVER CONCERN was felt over the comeback of Shortstop Jose Pagan is withering rapidly. The little pepper pot, to these old eyes, looks two to one better than he did in 1964.

"The guy moves out there," says Charlie Fox, coach. "He's shifting much faster and throwing a lot better. His hitting, likewise, seems improved. And if you ask me why, I'm going to explain it is because he acts like he's seeing a lot better than he did last year."

The eye operation on Pagan, while a delicate one, was not a serious one, according to the Giants brass.

Outside of the spectacular bat and field work of Lanier at second base, everybody down here doffs the cap to Willie Mays.

"The guy works harder and more gleefully than if he was a rookie breaking in. What would I do if I had 40 such guys?" Herman Franks, the Giant pilot, sez.

You have only to observe the applause Mays gets each time he comes to bat, to know why the Giants like to keep him in the lineup. He's really the main event in any Giant appearance.

MOST OF the chatter here today is about Bob Shaw, the Giant pitcher who finally came to terms and is now in camp.

Shaw provoked a lot of discussion because he announced right away he wasn't making any demands on Manager Franks or the Giants.

"Wherever I can help, that is the job I want to do," explains Shaw.

"I've been quoted as demanding a starting berth on the Giant staff. That is entirely up to the manager. I'm ready to start, relieve or do anything I can, and to the best of my ability, to help the Giants win the pennant. And between you and me, I think we have a swell chance."

Cal Rugby Team Gets Fourth World Victory

BERKELEY (AP) — The California Golden Bears are home with the unprecedented today—a trophy for their fourth victory in World Club rugby action.

The Bears smashed the University of British Columbia 37-3 in a game at Vancouver, B.C., Saturday. They had cinched the cup Thursday with an 18-3 victory over the Canadians in the third game of the series.

California romped to a 13-3 halftime lead and Can Sinclair devastated the Thunderbird defense with 10 points.

The Canadians were outweighed 30 pounds a man and played most of the game with 14 men after an injury.

Murakami's Status Is Still Uncertain

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese Baseball Commission said today it is waiting for word from U.S. baseball Commissioner Ford Frick before making plans for hurler Masanori Murakami to rejoin the San Francisco Giants.

Giant scout Tsuneo Harada, however, reiterated he is trying to get the 20-year-old Murakami, the first Japanese to play in a U.S. major league, back to the United States by the end of this month.

Last Tuesday Japanese Commissioner Yushi Uchimura told newsmen he wrote Frick suggesting that Murakami rejoin the Giants to fulfill a 1965 contract. But Uchimura recommended that the player be returned to Japan's Nankai Hawks professional baseball club after the season ends.

"I'm planning to meet Uchimura or other baseball officials in a day or two to ask them to send Murakami to the United States by the end of this month," Harada said.

But a spokesman for the Japanese Baseball Commission, when asked about Murakami's departure plans said:

"We are waiting for an answer from baseball Commissioner, Frick."

Murakami is training with the Hawks in Osaka. His condition was described by experts as good.

The dispute over Murakami started last month when the Hawks said they had signed a contract with him for the 1965 season. Murakami had already signed a contract with the Giants to pitch for them during the 1965 season.

Murakami joined the Giants last August and compiled a 1-0 record in nine games.

FUNERAL SERVICES

400 Pay Homage To Amos Stagg

By JACK STEVENSON

STOCKTON (AP) — "Winning is never worthwhile unless something nobler and finer is behind it. When I reach the soul of one of my boys with an idea or an ideal or a vision, then I think I have done my job as a coach."

Amos Alonzo Stagg spoke those words in years long past and they became part of the eulogy yesterday at funeral services for the grand old man of football who died last week at 102 years of age.

His "boys" were there, some of them grandfathers several times over. Nelson Norgren, captain of the University of Chicago team in 1913, reminisced over the Big Ten Championship won by the Maroons that year.

Kyle Anderson, who played for Stagg in 1925-27, recalled the first man-in-motion plays, and Fritz Crisler, athletic director at Michigan remembered his years as an assistant to Stagg.

Stagg's sons, Amos Alonzo Jr., and Paul also played for their father, at Chicago.

The Rev. Myron Herrell officiated at the services in the new Central Methodist Church where only one week before the church bible had been dedicated in the names of Mr. and Mrs. Stagg.

"Competition is the life of sports," said the Rev. Mr. Herrell, "and Mr. Stagg was highly competitive. Competition, however, in his view, was not for the purpose of beating someone down; rather it was a way of bringing the best out of every player. He fought to win but this was always secondary to the creation of excellence.

"The playing field was the training ground for the kind of life which would accept only its best, and which would demand the full excellence of which man is capable."

Services were relatively brief on a warm, sunny day as 400 gathered to pay final homage to the man who had lived a full life under spartan rules—he never smoked, drank or swore.

As the closed casket was carried from the church, bells tolled at University of the Pacific just across the street. For when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 70 at Chicago in 1932, Stagg came to the then College of the Pacific and served as head coach for another 15 seasons.

Although the new church was completed just last year and Stagg never saw it, the modern structure is located just two blocks from the little bungalow where the Staggs lived on Euclid street. Stella Stagg died last July 22.

In attendance were Dr. Kingman Brewster of Yale where Stagg starred in baseball and on the first All America football team in 1889, Walter Hass, director of athletics at Chicago and Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of UOP.

Inurnment of this man, the only one honored both as player and coach in Football's Hall of Fame, will be in Stockton near his beloved Stella.

SAD END TO FATHER-SON BIKE OUTING

Ten-year-old Jeffry Costello went bicycling with his father, Dan B. Costello of 704 Butternut Drive, Terra Linda, Saturday evening. As they were angling west across Freitas Parkway at 7:55 p.m., a car driven by Robert J. Klein, 17, of 38 Shelley Drive, Mill Valley, struck the boy's bike, with the results shown here. Silverthorne's Use Of Casinos Recited

WASHINGTON (UPI)— A Senate investigator testified today that Don C. Silverthorne cashed checks, IOUs and markers totaling nearly $1 million in Las Vegas casinos as the San Francisco National Bank which he once headed plunged into fiscal ruin.

Donald O'Donnell, chief counsel for Senate rackets investigating subcommittee, said that Silverthorne, 60, drew $906,246 from the funds of eight casinos from July, 1963, until early this year.

O'Donnell also told the subcommittee that the former bank president still owes the casinos $227,250.

The chief counsel testified as public hearings into the failure of the San Francisco bank on Jan. 22 resumed.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., inquired: "At this time we have no evidence that he didn't use the money for other purposes than gambling?"

O'Donnell replied: "Absolutely not except for the IOUs."

Curtis said that in many cases persons have gone to Las Vegas to cash checks for a transaction they did not want known.

Of the total money drawn, O'Donnell said, Silverthorne used $671,100 before he was deposed as president of the bank Oct. 28, 1964, and the remaining $235,146 after.

O'Donnell indicated Silverthorne's favorite spot apparently was the Flamingo where he drew $432,646.94 and still owed $109,250. The money was reported drawn in a four-month period beginning last September, at an average rate of more than $100,000 a month.

O'Donnell introduced a letter from the general manager of the Flamingo who said he could not state whether Silverthorne lost all the money gambling except for a $100,000 IOU.

Boys Arrested On Car Theft, Hit-Run Counts

Two 15-year-old boys were arrested yesterday by the California Highway Patrol on charges of car theft in San Francisco and hit-run driving in Corte Madera.

One of them, from San Quentin, was sent to juvenile hall. The other, from San Rafael, was taken to Napa State Hospital.

The boys were picked up by California Highway Patrol officers on Highway 101 south of Corte Madera after a car they assertedly abandoned was found on a fire trail at the end of Casa Buena Drive.

Corte Madera police reported a car driven by John Much of San Francisco, was stopped, waiting for a light to change, southbound on Madera Boulevard at Tamalpais Drive when it was rammed in the rear about 3:45 p.m. yesterday.

The car which hit Much's backed off and then sped past onto Casa Buena Drive. Much's vehicle was badly damaged, but the driver was uninjured. Much gave police a description of the car and its license plate number.

A check showed the car had been stolen the day before from the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco. It was registered to Yerbe Homes, Carmichael, Sacramento County.

Broken Glass Causes Highawy 101 Backup

Broken glass near the Richardson Bay Bridge caused traffic backups which lasted two hours and stretched as far back as San Rafael on Highway 101 this morning.

It took Division of Highways crews about 20 minutes to clear the glass away, closing only one lane at a time, but this was enough to cause the jam.

Traffic was not stopped completely at any time, said Capt. T. F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol, but "the mere slowing action is what creates the backlog."

"As far as I'm concerned we are already past capacity on 101 on Monday mornings during the peak hours," Parnow said.

"I am very desirous of getting an extra lane from Greenbrae to Marin City. The way it is now, a five-minute slow down because of a flat tire can cause a backlog which lasts an hour.

"This critically points to the need for a new bridge, which will take a couple of years to build."

Destroyed in the blaze was Doggett's wardrobe, kept in a closet of the bedroom. Firemen said the fire appeared to have started in the closet.

Doctor Defends Pornography Use

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pornographic literature and photographs can contribute to a person's sexual well-being, in the view of Dr. Albert Ellis executive director of the Institute of Rational Living in New York.

Ellis, speaking yesterday before 300 doctors and psychologists at a University of California Medical Center symposium, said that pornography can help adults get involved sexually.

"Most users of pornography seem to resort to viewing it only occasionally and at those times to employ it in a pleasurable, harmless way," he said.

Ellis said psychotherapists frequently have prescribed such viewing to help men regain potency and to aid frigid women.

Dutch Rely On Their Crown Princess

By ARNOUD DE JONG

THE HAGUE (UPI) — She is lively, apple cheeked, intelligent, mischievous and "all woman."

Then why can't Crown Princess Beatrix of Holland find herself a husband while her younger sisters go marching to the altar?

The question is both impertinent and foreign — foreign in the sense it is a question that is asked abroad, but not in Holland. The Dutch know their 27-year-old crown princess will pick her husband in her own good time.

Her problem never has been lack of admirers, but her sense of duty to the Dutch throne.

The second of her three sisters, 22-year-old Princess Margriet, has just this month announced her engagement to a fellow law student and commoner, Pieter Van Vellenhove, 26. Last year her sister, Princess Irene, at 24 married Spanish Prince Hugo - Carlos de Bourbon Parma. That leaves just Beatrix and the baby of the four Dutch princesses, Christiana, 18.

PREPARING FOR THRONE

Princess Beatrix has not been the least shy in discussing her own prospects and suggesting reasons why she still remains single.

"I am taking my preparations for being queen very seriously," she said recently. Among these preparations is looking around for the right husband. And how she does this, she feels firmly, is her own business. She shares with her mother avast impatience with what she considers unwarranted prying by the press into her private life.

"Reporters and photographers are increasingly interested in my private life," she complained. "They can cause you a lot of trouble by premature publications and the use of long-range cameras.

"It is simply not normal when every chance meeting or passing acquantance is immediately broadcast as a love affair."

ROMANCE BROKEN UP

It is widely believed that one romantic attachment by the princess was broken up by publicity. Four years ago Beatrix became friendly with a law student, Bob Steensma, son of a notary public. The two were seen often together, and handholding in the university town of Leyden where both were students. But it came to nothing. Steensma is now married to one of the princess's friends.

Few Dutchmen believe the princess will remain a spinster. They regard her as entirely too intelligent, too personable and too much alive to go through life unwed. She is regarded as the most attractive of the four sisters. They are not beauties, any of them, but they are vivacious.

Children Are Given A Better Chance To Succeed In School

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — Tears stain the small face of 3-year-old Billy Smith. A red welt is rising slowly on the left side of his face.

Hope has already left his brown eyes.

Billy is, in the words of one educator, "a repetitive product of poverty and racial discrimination and will tend to beget more of the same."

Used to gestures rather than the spoken word, Billy "barely has a language."

PUT HIM IN SCHOOL at age 6 and you can be sure he will flunk out eventually. He will then be turned loose to look for jobs which aren't there for the uneducated and to roam the streets.

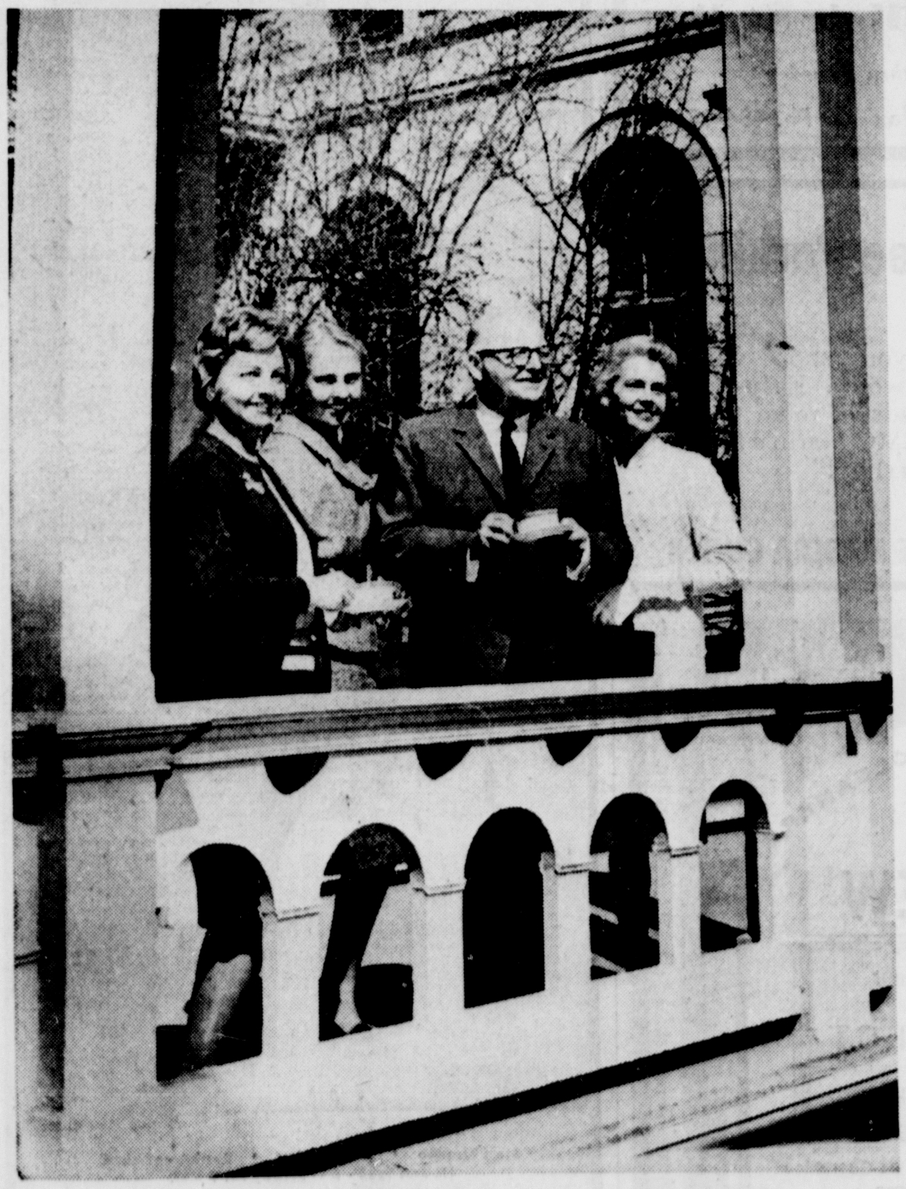

"You can't live with this," declares Dr. Sidney P. Marland, superintendent of Pittsburgh city schools.

So he intends to have Billy start school at age 3 or 4 and move through an ungraded system designed to help them catch up with more culturally advantaged children by the time they reach the fourth grade.

Billy will learn how to communicate, listen to stories and take part in plays. But perhaps most important, someone will love him, says Marland.

MARLAND'S PROGRAM got underway as a pilot project with 100 children last year. It was expanded to take it at

The senior class of Novato High School has chosen the theme "Gateway to Spring" for the fashion show to be held in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Thursday.

The show will benefit senior activities, chairmen Ronni Wilson and Sue Westlund said.

Mrs. Marty Hill, a professional model, will be commentator. Modeling the fashions will be Linda Heape, Laura Thomas, April Painter, Patti Hurst, Jackie Lombard, Sue Vogenson, Anna Pratt, Anita La Follette, Georgia Anderson, Madeline Cardon, Rosalind Corral, Lynne Walline, Bonni Brown, Bonni Bell, Kathy Faulkner, Dayle Hanley, Cathy Henshillwood, Linda Sparrow, Cheryl Blaney, Holly Nelson, Rita Taylor, Ninette Larson, Diane Sheiback, Val Witzel, Judy Beebe, Sue Hetrick, Jane Henderson and Kathy Klee.

Art Program Set At Club Luncheon

San Rafael Improvement Club will have an art show and hear Dr. William Upton of San Rafael speak on the amateur painter at the program of the club tomorrow at noon at the clubhouse. A luncheon will precede the program.

Doctor Upton, a self trained painter, became interested in painting five years ago and he prefers painting the landscape of Marin and other Northern California area in a style he terms "suggestive realism." Doctor Upton's wife is a past president of the San Rafael Improvement Club, and the couple resides in Bayside Acres with their son.

CHILDREN

least 300 three and four-year-olds later this fall.

"We are endeavoring to provide the children most impoverished socially and culturally with a better chance to succeed in school," Marland explained.

Children from "reasonable homes" come to school with a "considerable advantage," he said.

Billy and his peers are "barely able to communicate with each other, let alone a teacher," he said.

"They are," he said, "used to monosyllabic commands, not talk, and tend to withdraw from these commands and the world around them.

"In order for them to have a chance, we must interrupt this environment.

"We mustn't provide them with an atmosphere of peace and affection with stories, music and plays.

"By the fourth grade, they will have a fair chance to succeed."

The program is ungraded until the fourth school year so "the flow of their education will not be interrupted by artificial barriers," according to the superintendent. Each child will move at his own pace.

"IN ADDITION to promoting listening and language skills, we attempt to promote and safeguard mental and physical health and a favorable attitude toward school," Marland said.

"Children from depressed neighborhoods usually are not motivated to learn for learning's sake.

"They tend to start school two years in arrears and the gap increases year by year."

He plans to start sessions this fall for 300 children in Pittsburgh's depressed Hill District. Eventually the program will cover all the city's run-down neighborhoods.

The program was designed by Dr. Charles Hays, director of the school's compensatory education system.

The problems involved in putting the program into action seem enormous but are not "insurmountable," according to Marland, who came to Pittsburgh in 1963 to succeed Dr. Calvin E. Gross, now superintendent of New York City schools.

Marin Girl Scouts Register For Camp

During the next few months an estimated 700 Girl Scout camp registrations will be processed by the Fairfax Camping Center at Arequipa.

This center serves the five counties in the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council, including Marin. Miss Dorothy Erthle, assistant camp administrator for the Council, has her office at Arequipa, as do Mrs. Elsie Annes, Bothin Youth Center manager and Miss Caroline Pfeiffer, troop camp registrar.

Each girl's camp registration is programmed by Girl Scout adult volunteers and is placed her in one of her two choices of camps. Last year marked the beginning of this large scale operation in Fairfax.

Fourteen resident camps are available for Girl Scouts in this Council between the ages of 10 and 17. Brownies do not attend resident camps, but enjoy summer day camps which are also open to older girls.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Keep Sending In Letters But Short Ones, Please

Marin County is noted for its intelligent, informed, and public-spirited citizens.

This is evident in many ways, including the stream of letters to the editor, which bring heat, light and laughter to our readers. Their expressions evidence an intense interest in the welfare of the county and their willingness to take a stand on issues that affect them and their community.

We welcome these expressions of public opinion. But once again, may we ask our readers to keep their letters brief and to the point.

Much as we would like to print in full the articulate and fervent outpourings contained, we are often forced to condense.

Cutting letters is a difficult thing to do, especially if the intent and personality of the writer are to be retained. The impact of a letter can be lost in the condensation.

Maximum length for letters should be about 200 words, preferably shorter. If in doubt, make a rough count. You'd be surprised how quickly the typewriter eats up your quota of 200 words. A half page, double spaced, would be ideal. Beyond that, trimming may become necessary.

Here are some other suggestions that come to mind as we pore through the mail:

Sign your letters. Unsigned letters, even if the name is typed in, are usually filed away.

Typed letters, double spaced, are preferable. Handwritten letters, if clearly legible, are acceptable. Frequently, however, notes scribbled in long hand require some imaginative "de-coding." In the process, they may appear in print in garbled form.

Letters addressed to another official or public agency (such as to the board of supervisors), with copies to the editor, are not printed. However, we do welcome copies of such communication because they do aid in our coverage of public meetings where the original letter is to be presented.

Quoting poetry or other published statements tend to make letters unnecessarily long. But we hasten to add that terse poetry at times can be most effective.

We fondly recall one of our recent favorites, which had to do with "Waldo roadhoggin" by "Der Volks mit Volkswagen."

We're proud of Marin's articulate citizenry. So keep 'em coming, but keep 'em short.

'Ready – Heave!'

Johnson's Image Vitally Changed By His Speech On Voters' Rights

WASHINGTON—A new Lyndon Johnson came into the view this week—or, at the very least, we saw a Lyndon Johnson we hadn't seen before.

I SUSPECT that both are true; namely:

That more of LBJ became visible because the voting rights crisis demanded more of him.

That his meeting the pain and pressures and moral compulsion of what he had to do added something to the stature of the man himself.

Something had to give. The president put it in these words: "At times history and fate meet at a single time in a single place to shape a turning point."

Mr. Johnson was standing at that meeting place of history and fate and it was by no means certain in advance whether the turning point would lead to hopes fulfilled or to untold harm.

To a large degree the answer depended upon one man, not because he was Lyndon B. Johnson, but because he was the president of the United States.

At this moment of history and fate Lyndon Johnson was either going to fill the presidency or leave it partly, and therefore perilously, vacant.

AT THIS MOMENT, at this crucial turning point on this issue — whether the right to vote, the very soul of American democracy, shall be denied to Negro citizens or whether Lincoln's promise shall be kept — Mr. Johnson filled the presidency to overflowing.

I am not referring to the "image" which Mr. Johnson projected, or to his oratory, or to the "style" he brings to the office. I am referring to the willingness and the capacity and the courage of a president to lead—rather than follow.

Undoubtedly many in his vast television and radio audience felt the differences, like these:

The attributes of the "great political wheeler-dealer" vanished as the president stood before the Congress to rally both Congress and the country to right a long-endured wrong. He wasn't pleading for a "deal" or offering to make one.

HE WAS NOT calling for a compromise voting-rights act which would keep together his tidy consensus. He was utilizing the consensus to go all the way to open the polling places "to all the people."

He left nothing and nobody in doubt that his deep and unwavering purpose was to do his part to put equal voting rights and equal opportunities into the hands of all, regardless of race. Of the role of the presidency, he said with a special fervor: "I mean to use it."

Finally, throughout the speech there was an unusual self-revelation and freedom from self-conscious, make-believe humility.

"I do not want," he said, "to be the president who built empires or sought grandeur or extended dominion. . . . I want to be the president who helped the poor to find their own way and who protected the right of every citizen to vote in every election. I want to be the president who helped end hatred among his fellow men."

HE MEANT IT.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Hollis Thanks McCarthy, Aide

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to call to your attention the outstanding work of State Senator, and Minority Leader, Jack McCarthy, with regard to a particular bill that was imperative on the local level.

Senator McCarthy and his administrative assistant, Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, worked long and hard hours, and used every legislative device and maneuver to help make A. B. 939 (Petris-Bee) pass. Senator McCarthy was able to amend into A. B. 939 a section whereby the Marin County superintendent of schools could appoint the three board members of the Novato Unified School District who would have had to run in the April 20 election for a four-year term. A legislative oversight in 1963 made it mandatory that these three board members would have to run for four-year terms even though their district would not come into operation until July 1, 1965. Senator McCarthy, with the splendid assistance of Mrs. Taylor, worked through committee hearings in the Assembly and Senate, and at the last moment was able to have the Marin County portion amended into Alameda County's Bill.

May I again pay tribute to Senator McCarthy and Mrs. Taylor not only for their particular help in the Novato-San Jose area but for all of the children of Marin County.

Some Negroes Not Doing Cause Good

Editor, Independent-Journal:

While I have always been in accord with the movement for equal rights for minorities, regardless of color, race or creed, I do believe that some of the Negro race are not doing their cause any good during the present crisis.

Either yesterday or the day before, pictures of the police brutality in Montgomery were shown on television followed by pictures and comments by some of the so-called leaders throughout the country.

One of these so-called leaders made the comment, "Of course, you will always have brutality where you have police."

Total Unification Is Not The Answer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Letter from Mrs. Jerry Lloyd of San Anselmo, March 8.

"You can vote for equal education for all and you can vote YES for UNIFICATION"?

"You can vote for equal education for all" — (provided that you understand what this means—a leveling of standards whereby some gain and others lose—or, you are willing to joyfully vote for the tax dollars needed to raise all standards to the highest levels involved, etc.) and "you can vote YES for UNIFICATION," (but only one way because that's all the choice you've been given).

DEFINITION: Unification—The unifying of a program encompassing grades one through 12 (kindergarten included) with a minimum figure of 2,000 students.

There are other solutions. Why accept the same old plan when it's not good enough and hasn't been for the last 12 years?

It is time to take a fresh look at the entire picture — throw out the old, unwieldy plan and find a workable solution to unification of our various districts.

Once you accept the big plan —you're stuck and the tragedy of acquiescence to the pressures being brought to bear will begin to unfold. It will be too late then to do anything more than regret.

Vote NO on TOTAL UNIFICATION and then work for GOOD UNIFICATION. It can be done better — why accept less?

Proposed City Is Your Business

Editor, Independent-Journal:

So the mayor of Ross agrees with the city manager of Corte Madera — their councilmen seemingly concurring — that Marincello is none of their business. One could understand these city officials being against the Marincello development, or being in favor of it, but that they consider it none of their business is hardly credible.

No event in the history of Marin County, possibly excepting the building of the Golden Gate Bridge, has such potential for change—good or evil—as the building of Marincello. This development, if approved, would without question change the character of residential construction and family living throughout much of Marin. . . .

Undersecretary of Interior John A. Carver Jr. and the federal government are concerned. . . . The New York Times is concerned. . . . But not the city officials of Ross and Corte Madera.

The residents of Sausalito are concerned about Marincello, and in a reasoned but urgent resolution appealed to their sister communities for support . . . but the councils of Ross and Corte Madera say it is none of their business.

When high-rise apartments "Casa Frouge I and Casa Frouge II" (hard to believe, isn't it, but it is a quote from a promotional brochure for Frouge's Marincello) rise in their own back yard to confound their communities, then perhaps it will be their business.

When their taxes are raised to provide public services for Marincello—whose tax-producing prediction assumes a community of low-rent apartments, a child-to-adult ratio a third of nearby communities, and an industrial development that no one else in Marin has been able to generate under much more favorable conditions — then it will be their business.

Good citizens of Ross and Corte Madera: How would you like to have Casa Frouge I and Casa Frouge II as your neighbors?

Bay Pollution—Growing Problem

Anyone who doubts the seriousness of the problem of pollution should spend a day on the Marin Rod and Gun Club's fishing pier and watch the atrocious amount of garbage floating by, and think that this is just a minor part of the pollution, that industrial wastes and sewerage account for a lot more unseen corruption.

Or one can reflect that 10 or 15 years ago the Bay waters contained enough shrimp to support a thriving small-time shrimping industry at China Camp. But the shrimp died off—allegedly because of pollution.

Pollution is already here. It will get steadily worse. The time for foot dragging is past. Let's get some laws with teeth in them and then help see that they are stringently enforced.

Legislators Resume Struggle With Own, Counties' Salaries

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, has introduced legislation to provide a new approach to an old problem.

One of Marks' measures, ACA 42, would amend the State Constitution to permit boards of supervisors to set their own salaries. The other, A. B. 1902, would prohibit supervisors from setting their salaries higher than the salaries of legislators, except in certain cases.

UNDER PRESENT law, supervisors' salaries must be set by the Legislature with individual bills for the various counties. The standard procedure is that supervisors seeking a pay raise must have a recommendation from the county grand jury.

Once in the Legislature, few of the county salary bills ever get more than a few good-natured whistles and sail on through, as a local matter. But legislators object that this is a buck-passing operation—legislators go along with their colleagues in approving each other's salary bills; the supervisors hide behind the fact their salaries are set by the Legislature.

WHAT ALSO RANKLES the legislators, of course, is the fact that, except for a few small counties, supervisors receive higher salaries than the $6,000 a year paid to members of the Legislature.

Just last week, the Assembly approved A. B. 26 by Assemblyman Alan C. Pattee, R-Salinas. It increases the salary of the Monterey county auditor from $8,400 to $9,240 and supervisors from $6,600 to $7,200.

At the time the Pattee bill was passed and sent to the Senate, Marks served notice he had legislation coming and would vote against any county salary increase bills until some action was taken. However, Marks was joined by only one other legislator and the Pattee bill passed, 60-2.

The salary of the Legislature was increased from $3,600 to $6,000 a year in the mid-50s but, since then, a number of efforts to secure further increases have been turned down by voters. The salary is in the State Constitution and any increase must be submitted to a vote of the people.

EACH TIME the result has been the same, even though every study of government made in recent years has recommended a pay raise for the Legislature. Gov. Edmund G. Brown earlier this year said the Legislature should meet in regular session each year and was entitled to a pay raise.

Some of the legislative leadership, feeling a pay raise was not in the cards, has taken the action permissible and increased expense and operational allowances for the lawmakers. They may now draw up to $1,250 per month for operation of a district office; have state-leased cars, up to $250 per month, plus credit cards for gasoline; and a retirement system which permits persons retiring after 20 years' service to draw more in retirement benefits than the salary for a member of the Legislature.

The 1964 election ballot, for the first time in several years, did not include a pay raise proposition, so chances are better than even that there will be some sort of proposal approved this year for a vote in November, 1966.

Marin County American Legion spokesmen asked the county board of supervisors to outbid private purchasers and acquire the Robert Dollar 11.5-acre estate on Mission Avenue, San Rafael, for a veterans' hospital.

Neither the Golden Gate Bridge District nor State Toll Bridge Authority can legally be involved in leasing the bridge to the state, counsel for the district advised.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

ONE MORNING, Pope John XXIII granted a private audience to a newly-appointed bishop, who complained that the complexity and responsibilities of his new office prevented him from sleeping. "The very same thing happened to me in the first few weeks of my pontificate," Pope John reassured him, "but then one day my guardian angel appeared to me in a daydream and whispered, 'Giovanni, don't take yourself so seriously.' And ever since then I've been able to sleep!"

AFTER SIX speakers had droned on interminably at a testimonial dinner, the final celebrity cleared his throat, beamed at the audience, announced, "This gives me great pleasure" and sat down. He was rewarded with more applause than that given all the other speakers put together.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Chicago Judge Stirs Storm In Congress

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A Chicago municipal judge, who has stirred up a storm of controversy in the five months he has been on the bench, may find himself doing some headline testifying before the House Judiciary Committee at its forthcoming hearings on President Lyndon B. Johnson's anti-crime legislation.

COMMITTEE LEADERS are being strongly urged to summon Judge George Leighton to explain two extraordinary decisions he has handed down in his brief tenure.

In numerous protests and complaints, these rulings are being cited as glaring instances of "gross miscarriage of justice by a public official charged with the responsibility of enforcing law and order."

In one case, Leighton freed two Puerto Ricans who severely slashed a policeman when he tried to arrest them for threatening pedestrians with a broken beer bottle. In the other, Sam DeStefano, Chicago hoodlum, was granted a new trial following his conviction by a jury on charges of obstructing justice by bribing witnesses to refuse to identify a holdup man.

IT TOOK 27 stitches and 23 days in the hospital for the policeman to recover. His face will be scarred for life. Leighton released the defendants on the ground the policeman, by drawing his revolver, gave them the right to resist arrest.

"The right to resist unlawful arrest is a phase of self-defense," astonishingly proclaimed Leighton.

DeStefano's conviction was set aside by Leighton, in what he described as a "magnanimous gesture," on the contention that both he and the prosecutor had made inflammatory remarks in the presence of the jury and DeStefano, therefore, had not received a fair trial.

COMMITTEEMEN have been told DeStefano and Leighton were close friends, and the former had consulted the judge on legal matters before he went on the bench.

Son of immigrants from a Portuguese colony, Leighton graduated from Howard University, Washington, D. C., in 1940, and Harvard Law School in 1946. Prior to his election as a circuit judge last November, he represented members of the Chicago underworld.

He was an attorney for Sam Giancana, notorious ruler of Chicago's "Cosa Nostra," in his unsuccessful suit to bar the FBI from keeping him under close surveillance. Leighton also handled legal affairs for Elijah Muhammad, head of the Black Muslims.

DEMOCRATIC fund-raisers are enviously eyeing an ingenious device that has netted the Republican electioneering chest around $100,000.

It is a glossy-paper 60-page magazine - type book titled "Congress, The Heartbeat of the Government." Profusely illustrated, it is loaded with scores of ads from defense contractors and business firms.

The revenue from these ads is financing the activities of the House GOP Campaign Committee, already busy on next year's crucial election battle.

ONLY HITCH to the Democrats' resorting to the same device is its legality.

That question has been raised by wary members of the Democratic Campaign Committee. They have asked the Justice Department for a ruling. Some of the committeemen contend the GOP publication violates Section 608-B of the Hatch Act.

Enacted in 1940, this provision prohibits political committees and candidates from raising funds through publications containing paid advertisements.

Rep. Robert Wilson, R-Calif., chairman of the GOP committee, holds its booklet is educational and therefore within the law. He also cites the Democrats' big 1964 money-maker—a hard-back national convention book that netted nearly $1 million, put out by the Democratic National Committee.

How To Play Telephone Roulette With State Capital Switchboard

YOU COULD SAY it was my fault. I'm supposed to be a reporter and supposed to know whom to call for information.

Actually, I'd like to blame it on someone else. It's hard to say who that someone else should be. Maybe you can figure it out.

City Editor Bryce W. Anderson had assigned me to find out what had happened in the case of Lester H. Hingsbergen of San Rafael, ordered reinstated to his Department of Motor Vehicles job by a San Francisco Superior Court judge March 11.

As of March 15, Hingsbergen, who was dismissed after refusing to answer questions in a department probe, had still not been rehired.

Most state departments have information offices that are responsible for giving out information such as I sought, so I put in a call to Sacramento.

THE OPERATOR at the Capitol exchange, however, said the Department of Motor Vehicles did not have an information office. So I asked to speak to Hingsbergen's erstwhile superior, William P. Scanland, manager of investigations.

The operator put me through to his office. Scanland was out, but his secretary said I would have to get the information from the department's information office.

I told her the department did not have one, but she insisted it did and gave me a number and the name of Nick Wycoff. The operator rang the number and nothing happened.

"YOU HAVE BEEN given a wrong number," she said.

She was able eventually to track down the right number by looking up Wycoff. He was available but not too helpful. The man I should talk to, he said, was Kelvin Sharp, assistant executive officer of the state personnel board.

Wyckoff had another number, and that transfer worked. However, Sharp was in a meeting and so was his boss, John Fisher, the executive officer for the personnel board.

The secretary suggested I talk to Robert Hill, a hearing officer. She produced his number and that transfer worked. Hill was in and said I would have to talk to Leonard M. Sperry, a deputy state attorney general in San Francisco.

Hill gave Sperry's San Francisco number and extension. He was in and said that Hingsbergen's status was the same as it was March 15, that the state personnel board could not act until the District Court of Appeal acted.

You see, the superior court order for immediate reinstatement of Hingsbergen was appealed to the higher court by the personnel board, thus hanging things up.

THAT'S WHAT I did—hung up.

Hingsbergen might not have his job, but he sure must have a lot of patience.

ART BUCHWALD

Success Spoils Pop Artist, Or -- Don't Lose The Groceries, Dear

WASHINGTON — The other day the Canadian authorities refused to allow 80 wooden crates, which looked like cartons of Brillo soap pads, Kellogg's cornflakes, and Mott's apple juice, to go through customs as works of art. The cartons, painted by American pop artist Andy Warhol, were not, said the Canadians, works of art but merchandise, and subject to $4,000 duty.

I think the Canadians are all wet. A few days after the incident in Canada, I went down to the supermarket to buy some groceries for my wife. On the way home I stopped in at an art gallery where they were holding a pop art exhibit. Unfortunately, the carton of groceries got heavy and I left them on the floor.

Then, being so moved by what I saw, I left the gallery and went home.

"Where are the groceries?" my wife demanded.

"Oh, my gosh," I cried, "I left them at the art gallery."

"Well, you'd better get them if you want any supper tonight."

I rushed back to the gallery, but I was too late. The groceries had been awarded first prize in the show.

"We've been looking all over for you," the gallery owner said. "Why didn't you sign your work of art?"

"IT'S NOT A WORK of art. It's my dinner for tonight."

The gallery roared with appreciative laughter. "He's not only a great sculptor, but he has humor as well," a judge said.

"You can see that in his work," another judge added. "Notice how the bottle of Heinz catsup is leaning against the can of Campbell's pork and beans."

"I'll never know how he was inspired to put the Ritz crackers on top of the can of Crisco," a lady said to her escort.

"It's pure genius," the escort replied. "Notice the way the Del Monte can of peaches is lying on its side. Even Warhol wouldn't have gone that far."

"I THINK the thing that really won the prize for him was the manner in which he crushed the Sarah Lee cheesecake on the bottom of the box."

"It makes Picasso look sick."

"Look," I said, "I'm very grateful for all these honors, but my wife is waiting for this stuff and I have to get it home."

"Get it home?" the gallery owner said in amazement. "I've just sold it to that couple over there for $1,500."

"The groceries cost me only $18," I replied.

"It isn't the groceries. It's what you did with them. You have managed to put more meaning into a box of Rinso than Rodin put into 'The Thinker.' Nobody will ever be able to look at a can of Franco-American spaghetti without thinking of you. You have said with this bag of groceries, in one evening, what Rembrandt tried to say in 1,000 paintings."

I BLUSHED modestly and accepted his check. That night I took my wife out to dinner and the next day I went back to the supermarket and bought another bag of groceries, much more expensive than the previous ones, which I immediately took to the gallery.

But the reviews were lousy. "Success has gone to his head," said Washington's leading art critics. "Where once he was able to produce simple jars of cat food and peanut butter in a wild, reckless, I-don't-give-a-damn manner, he is now serving up elegant cans of mushrooms and mock turtle soup. The famous touch is gone and all that is left is a hodge-podge of tasteless groceries."

Students...here's how lighting can lighten your homework.

It's a lot easier to get good grades when you read and write in good light. You tire less easily, learn faster and make fewer mistakes when your eyes aren't straining under glare or shadows. Here are some ideas from PG&E's lighting specialists for you to use at home:

Use lamps that spread light.

1. Two wall or table lamps, one at either end of your desk, with shaded bulbs of at least 150 watts provide the best study lighting. The light then comes from two directions to cover the desk top without shadows.

2. If this isn't practical, use a single lamp, set close to your work, which casts its light not only downward, but upward too. The best lamps have the bulb inside a light-diffusing glass bowl and a light-transmitting outer shade to spread and soften the glow.

3. Adjust your chair or the lamp so that the low edge of the lampshade is at eye level.

Have a regular, well-lighted place to study.

4. Study each night in the same place or area. Your own bedroom is probably best because it's quieter. It's also easy to provide it with good lighting.

5. Use a level work surface, a flat-top desk or table. It should be placed against a wall—never looking out a window into daylight glare or night darkness.

6. A light-colored desk top or blotter will reduce lighting contrasts and eye fatigue. A light-painted cork bulletin board will do the same for a dark wall.

Keep a general light on in the room.

7. Sharp contrasts of dark and light make your eyes work hard. Always keep a ceiling light, wall fixture or 3-way floor-lamp lighted in addition to your study lighting.

Some helpful study tips.

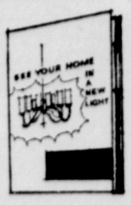

8. Books and other reading matter should be propped or tilted about 30° toward the eyes. A flat book makes reading difficult.

9. Never read or work in your own shadow.

10. When you have a comfortable, well-lighted place to study, use it. You'll find that your eyes won't tire so easily, and your mind won't wander from your work.

Free lighting booklet.

For more complete information about study lighting and household lighting of all kinds, get a copy of PG&E's free booklet, "See Your Home in a New Light." It's filled with lighting advice, decorating ideas, and information about fixtures and wiring.

Biggest Household Bargain.

Providing dependable gas and electric service at the lowest possible rates is our most important job. Since 1961 there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. In fact, the same amount of PG&E gas and electricity costs less today than 30 years ago. Which means that PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Everything Depends On Who Gets Control In Game

When my younger daughter was married last month I had a serious talk with my new son-in-law.

"Everything depends on how you start," I told him. "Take control, and you can run things your way. Give up control, and you'll never get it back." We are talking about a bridge hand of course.

2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ◇ 7

If West leads the singleton diamond he gives up control. East wins and returns a diamond to give West a ruff, but the rest of the hand is easy for South.

SWITCHES TO HEARTS

West switches to the king of hearts, and dummy's ace wins. Declarer leads trumps until West takes the ace.

Then declarer can win any return and draw the rest of the trumps. South easily wins the rest of the tricks.

The defenders get the ace of diamonds and two trump tricks. South is in control of the hand throughout.

NO WAY TO ACT

That is no way for a son-in-law of mine to act. He should assume control by leading the king of hearts. Declarer wins in dummy with the ace of hearts and leads a trump to force out the ace.

Back comes another heart, and South ruffs. If South draws trumps, he will have to use all of his own trumps to do so.

When the defenders get the ace of diamonds they can take two heart tricks to defeat the contract.

TO MAKE SOUTH RUFF

If South abandons the trumps to knock out the ace of diamonds, East returns a heart to make South ruff again. Now West has more trumps than declarer, and West has enough control to defeat the contract.

In short, the control-taking lead defeats the contract whether or not declarer draws trumps.

The next time you have a serious talk with your son or your son-in-law, be sure to tell him to lead a long suit when he has four or more trumps. It's the best way to take control.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ 7 6 5
♡ A 9 8 4
◇ K Q 9 8
♣ K 10

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts.

This jump raise, forcing to game, shows strong trump support of four or more cards, with 13 to 16 points, counting both high cards and distribution.

Lots Of Black Stuff

HARLAN, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky produced its three-billionth ton of coal during January, 1965. Harlan County produced about one-sixth of this total.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, March 22, the 81st day of 1965 with 284 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mars, Mercury and Jupiter.

Anthony Van Dyck, the Flemish painter, was born on this day in 1599.

On this day in history:

In 1794, Congress passed legislation forbidding slave trading with foreign nations.

In 1820, Commodore Stephen Decatur, the American naval hero, was mortally wounded in a duel with Commodore James Barron outside of Washington.

In 1874, the Young Men's Hebrew Assn. was founded.

In 1941, the Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River began producing electrical power.

A thought for the day — British statesman Edmund Burke said: "People will not look forward to posterity who never look backward to their ancestors."

When a Family Buys A Home in Central Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 69.7% of home buyers in Central Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of
MORE THAN 3½ to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	69.7
San Francisco	19.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH-PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Northern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest research* shows that 71.9% of home buyers in Northern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of almost 5 to 1 MORE than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	71.9
San Francisco	14.6

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

When a Family Buys A Home in Southern Marin . . . Where Do They Come From?

Latest Research* shows that 65.9% of home buyers in Southern Marin are ALREADY LIVING in the County.

This is a ratio of MORE THAN 2 to 1 than from San Francisco.

BUYER ORIGIN	%
Marin County	65.9
San Francisco	31.9

- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves because the I-J covers 2 out of 3 homes in the County.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED!!
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.

Many Crabs Reported Along Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Northern California fishermen aren't crabby these days in their search for crabs.

Fishermen along the coastal waters between Fort Bragg and Crescent City have reported an abundance of the hard-shelled fish. Meanwhile, crabs are scarce in San Francisco Bay Area waters.

It was reported yesterday some 120 commercial boats in the north hauled in 2.3 million pounds of crabs in the first three months of the season.

Last year only 800,000 pounds were landed from Nov. 15 to June 30, the fishermen reported.

San Francisco fishermen report their daily haul averages 150 to 200 pounds a boat, including East Bay and Marin boats.

There is no apparent crab shortage in San Francisco restaurants or stores because the industry has trucked in crabs from Eureka and other North State cities for the past five years.

Ship's Radioman Sends Out SOS On Own Behalf

HONOLULU (UPI)—The Canadian Destroyer Escort MacKenzie early today put a doctor aboard the tanker Point Montara to treat a seriously ill radio operator who sent out his own call for help.

The crewman, Dallas Strawn, 53, San Gabriel, Calif., was stricken at dawn yesterday while the tanker was 625 miles northeast of Guam enroute from California to Singapore.

The Coast Guard at Honolulu said Strawn was responding to treatment under the Canadian surgeon's care. The tanker was diverted to Guam 500 miles away where Strawn will be hospitalized. The radioed diagnosis sent out by Strawn indicated he had a ruptured appendix.

Deputies Seeking Woman On Bogus Narcotics Order

Marin County sheriff's deputies today were seeking a woman in her late 20s who passed a forged prescription for dexedrine and amobarbital at the Lockwood Pharmacy, 888 College Avenue, Kentfield, Friday.

Pharmacist Kenneth H. Harris told deputies he did not give drugs mentioned, and tried to get license number as she left the store, but her car was too far away to see it.

The prescription blank bore the name of Dr. Eugene P. Shatkin of Greenbrae. Dr. Shatkin said he had issued no such prescription.

The woman went to the store about 7:15 p.m.

90 Per Cent Of Chronic Headaches Can Be Traced To Tension Problem

VAN DELLEN

Ninety per cent of chronic headaches are vascular (migraine) or muscular (tension) in origin. Many victims have psychological problems that bring on the attack. Sansert, and tranquilizers such as Miltown and Librium, are preventives and are useful when the individual cooperates by avoiding tension, anxiety, and hostility. Aspirin and ergotamine are used after distress develops.

The pain of a migraine headache is caused by dilatation of a single artery in the head. This may be triggered by the nervous system but the exact mechanism is unknown. The tension headache stems from a sustained and painful contraction of scalp muscles. Pain occurs during the immediate period of frustration or anxiety, rather than following it, as takes place in migraine.

MIGRAINE FREQUENTLY is preceded by a variety of symptoms, including visual defects, slurred speech, dizziness, ringing of the ears, and numbness and tingling of the skin on one side of the body. Many tend to accumulate fluid in the tissues, which is eliminated by the kidneys as the headache subsides. The cause of this cyclic change of fluid balance is not known.

Many migraine victims are perfectionists and methodical. Their personality and life experiences play a role in the cause of the distress. They come from families where they were pushed to perform beyond their capabilities. Many are sensitive and feel depressed, inadequate, and frustrated. Discomfort develops when a stressful situation cannot be overcome because of circumstances beyond their control. They improve when they acquire insight into the problem, modify their goals, and avoid or alter stress-producing situations.

IN THE PAST, most headaches were blamed on eye disorders, sinus troubles, high blood pressure, and brain tumor. These causes are not common and when arthritis of the neck and allergy are added to the list, the total probably accounts for less than 10 per cent of all headaches.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

VOICES AND SPIRITS

M. D. writes: What happens to the chemicals of an apparently healthy body should it have the misfortune to "feel the touch of a vanished hand or hear a voice from beyond the grave"?

REPLY

Nothing, except that the chemicals will pray that their master will consult a psychiatrist.

FEVER BLISTERS AND PREGNANCY

Mrs. F. B. writes: Can fever blisters during pregnancy harm the fetus?

REPLY

We do not know whether these lesions will harm the fetus in the early months of pregnancy. They might affect the eyes of the baby if they are located in the birth canal.

THYROID DOSAGE

E. M. writes: Are three grains of thyroid extract daily considered a large dosage?

REPLY

Yes, but it is surprising how much thyroid some tolerate without becoming jittery or developing palpitation. You should have a metabolism or protein bound iodine test.

COOKING AND BAKING SODA

Mrs. W. C. T. writes: If a little baking soda is put in vegetables and meats while they are cooking, does it kill the vitamins?

REPLY

No. Baking soda is sodium bicarbonate and does no harm unless the individual is on a low sodium diet.

Scientists Have Busy Season In Antarctica

By GENE BYLINSKY
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—U.S. researchers in Antarctica now know that pengins have built-in "clocks" that allow them to navigate.

They have discovered seals can dive deeper than 1,500 feet, and that it's possible to probe below the miles-thick ice cap with radar.

Projects were conducted by more than 200 U.S. scientists during the Antarctic summer.

They also laid out the world's longest antenna—21 miles—to artificially generate so-called "whistlers," low-frequency radio signals believed to be produced in nature by lightning.

They traversed part of the previously unexplored desert of snow and ice between the South Pole and Queen Maud Land on the coast nearest Africa.

In this section of the continent, the scientists found fossils of crab-like trilobites which lived 200-550 million years ago. Such fossils of lower life forms had been found in Antarctica before. Scientists think that dinosaur skeletons and bones should be present, too. But they are hidden by ice.

A few years ago, scientists observed that Adelie pengins released far from their rookeries always head north — when the sun is out. Even though their rookeries did not lie in a northerly direction, the penguins eventually returned home. How they did it was a mystery.

This year, scientists attached tiny radio transmitters to six of the flightless birds and tracked them from airplanes.

But one penguin was tracked for 50 miles and another for 35 miles. Together with other observations of penguins released in different parts of the continent, the scientists figured the waddling birds have built-in "clocks" which enable them to navigate by the sun.

These "clocks" are set to the local time of the penguins' nesting grounds. But birds displaced to other longtiudes can reset their "clocks" to the new time after a while and then zero in on home.

Land under Antarctic ice will be explored next season. The technique — bouncing radar waves off the hard surface from an airplane—won't be of much help to archaeologists. But to geologists it should reveal a wealth of new information about the ice-covered continent.

For the first time, too, scientists this year used a chamber suspended in frigid ocean waters to tune in on the clamor of seal voices that fills the dark ice-covered seas.

The chamber was big enough for two scientists. One observed the seals while another recorded their "voices" on tape. Analysis of the tapes may reveal what the seals are talking about.

Slowdown Court Driver Injured

Stanley P. Blaski, 55, of 504 Slowdown Court, Novato, suffered a cut lip and chest bruises when his car rolled over on Indian Valley Road a mile and a half west of Novato at 7:12 p.m. Friday.

He was in good condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Blaski told the California Highway Patrol another car forced him off the road into a ditch, where the car turned over.

Rotarians To Lunch At San Francisco

Ambulance's Owner Tries To Continue

Co-owner of Marin Ambulance Co., Mrs. Rene Parker, was to meet with potential backers in San Francisco today, but said she may resume emergency service whether she gets backing or not.

"I've been sending out bills and threatening letters and the checks have started to come in," said Mrs. Parker. She has also sold one ambulance in an effort to cut costs. The company went out of business two weeks ago except for its contract with the county to transport mental patients to Napa State Hospital.

Mrs. Parker said she would not resume service unless she could guarantee a payroll. "This may be possible," she said.

Canal School Second-Floor Report Due

Two conflicting stories will be compared tomorrow night when the San Rafael Board of Education tries to determine which is the real reason why there can be no second floor on the proposed Canal Street elementary school.

The board meets at 7:30 p.m. at the former E Street school.

The board meets at 7:30 p.m. at the former E Street School.

Further discussion of the matter was scheduled at the request of board member Walter J. Doll. Doll complained two weeks ago that he had heard one explanation during the board's Feb. 23 meeting and another one afterward.

Architect A. Mackenzie Cantin is expected to help resolve the confusion. At the February meeting, Cantin told board members the school would have to be limited to one floor because upstairs classroom walls would not line up with those of offices and library on the ground floor.

After that session, however, Supt. Bert C. Corona told several persons that engineers had recommended against a second story because of limitations in the soil's strength.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is a review of the adult education program, which the board has considered eliminating next year.

Under the merger of the San Jose and Novato school districts, Hamilton Air Force Base personnel will no longer be able to take part in the San Rafael program. Air Force people make up the bulk of those in the adult classes.

The board will consider a tentative agreement to buy the long-discussed Peacock Gap school site, will award bids on lockers, library furniture and cabinets and will consider rental agreements for special education classrooms in three schools.

Whiskers Contest Set For Students

Terra Linda High School's Block TL Club will sponsor a barn dance at the school gymnasium April 10 from 8 to 11 p.m. with a battle of the beards to be the main attraction.

Chairman Norman Trondsen advised the boys to start growing their beards now in preparation for the competition.

Proceeds of the dance will be used for the purchase of athletic equipment not covered in the athletic department bodget.

The name Milpitas is perhaps diminutive of Milpa: corn patches, hence, little corn patches.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'The King Family' Will Be Halved

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV has decided to bring back its new musical series, "The King Family," next season, but trimmed to 30 minutes weekly from its current one-hour length.

The network decided to take a gamble despite the show's mediocre ratings. It was the second time within a week that a series considered dead for the coming season was revived. Last Thursday, CBS-TV announced that "Slattery's People," about a state legislator would return.

The impending cancellation of both shows had drawn considerable protesting mail from viewers. But regardless of public network flattery of televiewers, such mail has little or no effect on industry executives unless they have reasons of their own to revive a show.

"The King Family" stars the singing King Sisters and several dozen of their musically-enthusiastic relatives of all ages.

Other information from ABC-TV concerning next season:

—The new one-hour series dramatizing the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has lined up the Aluminum Co. of America as a sponsor. The Ford Motor Co. had already signed up.

—ABC-TV's entire Sunday night schedule — "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," "The FBI" and the Sunday night movie — will be in color.

—"Burkes' Law" will switch from a tongue-in-cheek detective story to a spy series. New title: "Amos Burke — Secret Agent."

—"Peyton Place," expanding from two to three times a week, will be presented on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

—"ABC Scope," a half-hour current events and public affairs series, will be retained, moving from Wednesdays to Saturdays.

—"12 O'Clock High," a World War II Air Force series, switches from a late slot on Fridays to an early one on Mondays.

Baring a postponement, continuous live coverage of the Project Gemini space shot, America's first two-man orbital flight, will begin on the three television networks at 7 a.m. EST Tuesday. Even if there is a delay, the same schedule apparently would hold forth on a later date.

The launching from Cape Kennedy, Fla., is planned for about 9 a.m. EST, but could of course be later, and recovery of the astronauts is scheduled for the afternoon.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Raymond (Perry Mason) Burr guests with CBS-TV's Red Skelton March 30. . .Elsa Lanchester plays an eccentric spinster who fights plans to run a superhighway through her animal sanctuary on the same network's "Slattery's People" April 16.

New Rule To Control Curbs On Prime Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has taken a tentative step toward curbing network control over prime evening television time.

By 4 to 2 vote the FCC approved Friday a proposed rule which would strip indirectly three networks — ABC, CBS and NBC — of much of their tight rein over television programming.

Details of the proposed rule won't be disclosed until Monday, but an FCC source said under its provisions networks would be unable to own or control more than 50 per cent of non-news programs shown between 6 p.m. and 11 p.m.

Hub Schools Try Again For Bonds

San Anselmo School District leaders are trying to wipe out the frustratingly slim margin that three times in a row has spelled doom for bond issues and state loan proposals.

On the April 20 ballot are a proposed $700,000 bond issue and $500,000 state loan authorization. Both require two-thirds majority approval for passage.

Last July, the bond issue failed by a mere 37 votes. It lost by 38 votes the time before that.

Passage of the two measures is sought to curb a hevy load of double sessions in San Anselmo's overcrowded classrooms, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said. The overflow students could fill at least eight classrooms by next fall.

Passage of the bond issue will have little effect on the average taxpayer, the superintendent predicted.

The district levies a special five-cent tax rate to repay the state the loan which financed purchase of the Red Hill school site. If the bond issue permits construction on the now-idle site, this five cents would be eliminated. The net increase in the tax rate probably would be 3.2 cents per $100 assessed property valuation, according to Parodi. This would be less than 12 cents a month to the average homeowner, he stressed.

San Anselmo needs the bond issue to halt classroom overcrowding and double sessions regardless of whether the Tamalpais High School District unification proposal on the same ballot is passed, Parodi said. It would require at least two years for a unified district to pass the necessary financial measures and get a building program started, he said.

If the unification measure fails, San Anselmo trustees still must solve the classroom shortage; if the district is unified, local trustees would be able better to serve their community by locating the facilities where needed, before the large district begins work, in the superintendent's opinion.

A Citizens Committee for Better Education is active in support of the financing measures. Its co-chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Latcham.

(Tomorrow: Novato's school bond measure.)

Year 1964 Rough One For Fires In County

The year 1964 was a rough one for fires in Marin's unincorporated areas, but it could have been worse.

That is the conclusion in an annual report released today by Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

The report praises Marin residents for their caution in getting the county through an extremely dangerous summer.

Fire with the greatest potential danger was the Black Canyon blaze that started Aug. 19, and burned 240 acres of brush within San Rafael and 100 acres in county territory before it was brought under control.

Marin County firemen, however, had their toughest fire fighting in Sonoma county when many of them were sent to fight the Hanley fire which swept through thousands of acres and destroyed many homes Sept. 22 through 25.

Chief Bloom said the Marin County Fire Department responded to 406 fire calls in 1964, the highest number since 1959. In 1963 there were 321 fire calls.

The calls included 177 grass and brush fires last year compared with 103 in 1963. The fires last year burned 335 acres compared with 237 acres the year before.

The county department responded to 100 structural fires last year compared with 107 the year before. Structural fire losses totaled $218,610 in 1964 compared with $243,110 in 1963.

Vehicle fires were down slightly with 44 last year and 46 the year before.

Last year saw the establishment of the department's rescue unit. It has been successfully used since for rescue of several hikers stuck on coastal cliffs, Bloom said.

Building Plans For Marinwood Voted By Board

The Marinwood Community Services District board will consider construction of a wooden maintenance building at Marinwood Park in place of the originally planned steel building.

Directors authorized the preparation of plans for a wooden frame building Thursday night, according to Mrs. Genevieve Bolding, secretary.

Earlier this month, the board received bids on a steel building that were well above the estimate of $2,500.

The board adjourned until April 8 when it is slated to receive a report from the Marinwood Fire Commission.

Revised Plan For Quail Hill To Be Heard

Zoning a use permit for a planned community development on Quail Hill in Terra Linda, proposed by Draper Development Inc., will be discussed in public hearing at the San Rafael City Planning Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The developer has proposed construction of 951 apartments in the area between Northgate Drive and Nova Albion Way. To permit the plan, the city must rezone the area from an unclassified to a planned community district and grant a use permit for the project.

A larger plan for the same 83-acre hill, including 1,186 apartments, presented by Draper Development Inc. last year, was rejected by the city council before a record large audience..

The commission will consider annexation of 90 acres bounded by the Northgate Industrial Park at the north fork of Gallinas Creek.

Tentative map of the 19-lot Porto Bello West subdivision on Point San Pedro Road, proposed by the San Rafael Newport Co. will be considered.

Morago (town in Contra Costa County) is the surname of Gabriel Morago, Spanish explorer. Saint Mary's College, conducted by the Christian Brothers, is near Moraga.

Canal Realignment Request On Supervisors' Agenda

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will consider a request for realignment of the Saucelito Canal in Richardson Bay Tuesday afternoon.

The board convenes at 9 a.m. But the Saucelito Canal discussion ist set at 3 p.m.

Bothin Real Estate Co. of San Francisco, which owns about 100 acres in the tidelands area, requested the change saying realignment and relocation of the canal is essential for creation of an assessment district which will dredge the canal at private expense.

During its morning session, the board is scheduled to discuss the possibility of levying a four per cent tax on transient motel and hotel room occupancy. This item is scheduled for 10:30 a.m.
